Rotary Club makes donations

Sue Ryan, president of the Antioch Rotary Club, announced that the board of directors had approved the recommendation of the funding committee to make donations to a number of local charitable and not for profit organizations. The donations and the organizations are $88 for the Lake Villa School District #41 "Destination Imagination" Program and $500 for the Antioch Police Department "Shop With A Cop" Program.

For the Rotary's fiscal year that began in July 1, and will end June 30, the Antioch Rotary Club has donated $8,750 to local charitable and not-for-profit organizations. In addition to the above, donations have been made to the Timothy Osmond Memorial Fund, Open Arms Mission, Greenwing - Ducks Unlimited, PM&L Theatre, Miller Farm - Ride for the Cure (breast cancer), Emmons School Kids Coalition, Rotary District 6440 Hurricane Relief, Daisy's Resource and Development Center and Illinois Independent Living Center.

The club has approved a recommendation by the Funding Committee to donate $1,500 to the Rotary District 6440 District Charitable Fund Inc NFP, a 501 (c) (3) organization recently established by the district. A second part of that recommendation was a challenge to club members to match the donation. As of today, club members have exceeded the challenge and contributed $1,833.

The club also approved a recommendation from its board of directors that $5,000, or an amount equal to ten percent of the net proceeds of this year's annual pork chop dinner and auction, whichever was greater, be donated to the Rotary District 6440 District Charitable Fund Inc NFP. The "net" from the pork chop dinner and auction this year was $56,671.62. Ten percent of that, or $5,667.16, will go to hurricane relief.

At the November 3 Antioch Rotary Club meeting, the Emmons School Kids Coalition presented

Funding Committee Chairperson Dennis Hockney with a check for $1,000 to be applied to the hurricane relief effort of the club.

To date the club has raised $10,000 for hurricane relief, all of which will be donated to the Rotary District 6440 District Charitable Fund Inc NFP.

The funding committee of the Antioch Rotary Club has as its purpose to review requests from charitable and not-for-profit organizations, both public and private, and to make recommendations to the board of directors of the club to fund organizations it believes should be supported. The board makes the final decision as to which organizations will receive funding from the club.

Local charitable and not-for-profit organizations that would like consideration for support from the Antioch Rotary Club may do so by forwarding a written request to the Antioch Rotary Club Funding Committee at P.O. Box 35, Antioch, 60002.

Tomasellos drop controversial plans for Pedersen property

By Ginny Skweres

Staff Reporter

For the last three months residents near the Heron Harbor subdivision at Bowles Road and Route 59 have been very concerned about planned development of the 12 acres of land adjacent to them. The landowners, Alfred and Florence Pedersen, were planning on selling the land to Vince and Arlene Tomasello who wanted to build a banquet hall and restaurant on the property. Originally the plans called for a hotel, but that was changed to townhouse units.

Residents in the area had many concerns especially about traffic and were upset because the parcel of land was zoned as residential.

On Tuesday, Robert Silhan received notification from the Tomasello's attorney, Daniel Venturi, that they were withdrawing their petition for the plans they had been presenting to the planning, zoning and building commission. A public hearing had been scheduled to take place soon.

Venturi said the Tomasellos had believed their proposal would have been good for the village and it was not their intent to "create a community uproar which resulted in numerous vicious and personal attacks against them," Venturi stated in his letter. They would like to have a positive relationship with the Antioch administration.

It's time to get the mail out

By Ginny Skweres

Staff Reporter

To make sure your Christmas mailings get delivered on time, there's not much time left. That's especially true if you want to send a package to someone in the armed forces who is stationed overseas.

Sean Hargadon, the acting communications specialist for the Northern Illinois Postal District, said some deadlines already have been missed, but don't despair. There are alternatives. Dec. 10 is the last day to send first class envelopes and priority mail packages for most APO zip codes. For those sending to an APO address with a zip code ending in 093, the deadline is Dec. 5.

The quick service will cost more money, but it will get the mail there on time.

There's a little more time for mailing packages within the United States, but in order to mail it parcel post, it should be sent out by the second week of December, Hargadon said.

For those who procrastinate, or simply thrive being under pressure, they can wait until Dec. 22 to send mail by priority delivery. By waiting one more day, the only option is Express mail.

Traditionally, Dec. 19 is the busiest day for mailing Christmas cards and Dec. 31 is the busiest day for delivering mail, according to Hargadon.

The post office is encouraging the use of the "flat box" that can be obtained free at the post office. The

Antioch volunteers shared Thanksgiving with neighbors they didn't know

By Ginny Skweres

Staff Reporter

The Antioch Senior Center sounded like a very large family dinner, including the sound of a football game on television in the background where the fans were gathered.

The first-time Thanksgiving dinner for those who would otherwise not have had a dinner was served at the Antioch Senior Center, as well as the Lake Villa Methodist Church and the residents at Lakewood Towers.

Nearly 80 people filled the tables that were set up in the Senior Center, according to Paul Howard, director of the Senior Center, "It was fabulous," he said.

"The place was decorated lovely. Barbara Porch did the decorating and she did a terrific job. We had the meal in the main center and the big screen TV was on with the parade and then football," Howard said.

"People came and they didn't have to rush out. Steve Porch played the piano," Howard said "There was enough food, plus people brought in five card tables of desserts."

There had to be 50 volunteers

working in shifts. Most came early. I think that's one of the beauties of the plan. The last one out can lock the door," Howard said.

This was the first time for the event and it looked festive and the food tasted good, he said.

Trustee Barbara Porch came up with the idea and set everything into motion. She was pleased with the results.

"I was thrilled such a variety of people came. There were families, couples and seniors, so we touched different parts of the community," Porch said.

Leftovers? Of course there were leftovers. Guess what the seniors had for lunch on Friday.

Events keep Antioch a busy, happy village

Let the children know that Santa has settled into his castle in downtown Antioch and will be there until Dec. 23 when he has to go home to pack his sleigh. The castle is open every day for children to visit with Santa from 5:30 to 8 p.m. weekdays and from 1 to 4 p.m. on weekends. Photos are available for a nominal fee.

Last weekend the Antioch Chamber of Commerce worked with PM&L to put on a magic show and First National Bank Employee Owned showed the movie "Elf" at the Antioch Theater. The cost of admission was a non-perishable food item that would be donated to a local food shelter. According to Chamber President Barbara Porch more than 1,000 canned goods were collected, with many individuals bringing more than requested. Good job!

A welcome goes out to new businesses that have recently opened in Antioch. A grand opening is scheduled for The Cutting Edge at 355 North Ave. at 8:30 a.m., Culvers at 451 Route 173 at 9 a.m. and, Alexandria's Soap Opera at 915 Main St. at 9:30 a.m. on Dec. 10.

Another new business has opened down from Culvers in the Wal-Mart center. Arby's Roast Beef will be a great place when there's no time to cook, or Christmas shopping just makes you hungry. Welcome, Arby's.

For those interested in pottery, especially the Mata Ortiz style, there will be a free slide presentation at 1 p.m. Saturday at Antioch Pottery Works owned by Jill Tortorella. Max Loya, a Chihuahua native from Milwaukee, will speak about the trip taken to the tiny town of Mata Ortiz, where the Mata Ortiz style evolved.

Another trip is planned for February and a few spaces are open for those interested in traveling.

The following Saturday, Tortorella is having a big pottery sale from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. at her studio. Tours will be available and there will be opportunities to literally try your hand at the potter's wheel. Both events will be at 25942 Heart-o-Lakes Blvd. in Antioch. More information is available by calling Tortorella at 847-838-9949, or at her Web-site www.antioch-pottery.com.

ACHS teachers Jim White and Cameron Campbell are the faculty sponsors of a new club that began as a tailgating party. It has grown into a 50-member pep club, known as the Cardinal Crazies. The group will plan special events and spread Sequoia pride.

Lakefront building upgrades, uses topics for panel

By Steve Peterson

Staff Reporter

A Fox Lake Village Board committee discussed future needs of a building that has become a public gathering place for many group events.

It is Lakefront Park building at 71 Nippersink Blvd. Members of the park and recreation committee discussed its uses at a meeting there.

Efforts will be made to improve the kitchen area, add cabinets and see if the garage area could be used to accommodate larger groups.

The village of Fox Lake acquired the former Duchow Boat Center property in 2001.

"The most expensive thing will be to improve the kitchen," said Jim Thillen, who oversees construction projects on village-owned properties. Two members of public works will be assigned to Lakefront Park building tasks. Other improvements may be to lock the kitchen so smaller groups could not use it. The building needs some paint and window work, more heat and better fans, members said.

Nancy Rogers, park and recreation director, said that she gets many groups ask for the use of the building and pay a rental fee.

The Fox Lake Chamber of Commerce will have its Santa Spaghetti Dinner, different from the old breakfast format, there on Dec. 10, from 3 to 7 p.m.

"The problem was that the high school was charging the Chamber $1,000 rent," Rogers said.

The use of the building question drew much discussion.

"I don't want to see us in competition with places like Maravela's, Famous Freddie's Roadhouse, and others. This place should be used for small groups and birthday parties," said Trustee Greg Murrey.

Capital improvement projects are fine to come from impact fees, but not for maintenance from developers' fees, Murrey said.

Members discussed if beer, wine or liquor should be served there. Outside groups other than the village-run functions should not sell beer or wine, the committee members said.

It is the responsibility of those renting the facility to show proof of insurance, trustees said. But they later amended that by saying that no alcohol should be served, with the exception of village events. Even then, outside groups such as the Lakes American Legion of Fire Department serves it and has insurance for events such as Oktoberfest.

Trustee Ed Bender discussed if a special census could be done to increase revenue from the state of Illinois and improve the financial situation.

CORRECTIONS

In a recent business story about Innovative Ideas Screen Printing in Antioch, it was incorrectly referred to as Personalization Station. We regret the error.

In last week's story about Dennis Downes raising funds for a food pantry, the correct title of the picture he donated is "Grizzly Moon," and the proceeds are going to the Antioch Food Pantry at Halings Marina.

PM&L brings back John Denver Christmas concerts

John Denver

The PM&L Theatre will offer concerts John Denver music on Dec. 9 to 11 featuring Bob Wang of Bristol, Wis. Shows will be 8 p.m. on Dec. 9 and 10 and at 2:30 p.m. December 11. As a popular recording artist in the 70s, John Denver celebrated the holidays with Christmas albums like "Rocky Mountain Christmas" and TV specials including "John Denver and the Muppets: A Christmas Together."

Bob Wang, pastor at Somers Community United Church of Christ, brings Denver's music to life. In fact, Wang has been playing Denver's music almost since he learned guitar 25 years ago.

His parents gave him his first guitar the Christmas of 1980, the year he graduated from Mount Union College, Ohio, Wang said, and it was John Denver music that he cut his teeth since he was just beginning to learn guitar.

As Denver did in his concerts, Wang plans to sing Christmas as well as other Denver favorites, such as "Take Me Home, Country Roads" and "Annie's Song."

Karl Heilgeist of Salem, Wis., will provide percussion and background vocals for the event. The audience will be invited to join in a carol sing-a-long.

Tickets are $10 and reservations can be made by calling the PM&L Box Office at 847-395-3055.

'Revenge of the Middle-Aged Woman' to be discussed

Many women may enjoy the discussion, or at least reading, of the book, "Revenge of the Middle-Aged Woman" by Elizabeth Buchan. The Community Library, 24615 89th Street, Salem, Wis. will host the monthly book discussion at 7 p.m. on Tuesday. All adults are welcome.

After twenty-five years spent juggling husband, career, and kids with admirable success, Rose suddenly finds both her marriage and her career in unexpected ruin. Forced to begin a new life, she is at first terrified, then energized, by her newfound freedom—it's amazing what prolonged reflection, a little weight loss, a new slant on independence, and some Parisian lingerie will do for the psyche.

Witty, insightful, and emotionally resonant, Buchan's novel will strike a chord with anyone who has ever wondered what Middle Age would look like from the other side of the looking glass.

Commercial lenders sponsor family for Christmas

For the fifth consecutive year, the commercial lending department at State Bank of The Lakes will be sponsoring a family for Christmas. The names are provided by the Community Youth Network which services families in the Lake County area with counseling and relocation services and offering help to abused children and their families.

The 13-member lending department has provided gifts for families ranging in size from 4 to 7 people, donating food, clothing, toys and gift cards for necessary items such as footwear, gas and grooming services. This program is held in addition to other donation programs the bank provides for the community at Christmas and throughout the year.

State Bank of The Lakes currently operates five full-service facilities, located in Antioch, Lindenhurst, Grayslake, Spring Grove and McHenry. The bank puts a great deal of emphasis on involvement and service to its customers and the community as a whole.

boxes come in two sizes and both have the same amount of space inside, he said. One box is 11 inches by 8.5 inches by 5.5 inches. The other is 11 inches by 14 inches by 3 inches. No matter the weight of the box or the state it is going to, the cost will be $7.70.

The post office encourages the public to take advantage of this special deal because it saves time for the post office since no one needs to weigh or compute the postage for each box.

Hargadon also has some tips for packing and labeling the box.

"Print in capital letters, eliminate punctuation, spell the city name and abbreviate the state. If there is an apartment number, be sure to include it as well as the direction of the street if appropriate and use pressure sensitive tape to seal it. Don't use duct tape," he said.

The post office has a Web site from which you can buy stamps, gift items or arrange to have your package picked up. Stamps and labels can be printed off the computer.

To safely wrap a breakable item, Hargadon suggest using bubble wrap for smaller items and Styrofoam 'peanuts' for larger items.

Rotary's present effort helps hundreds

Shoes to toys will be distributed to the youngsters who need them the most.

The Fox Lake-Round Lake Area Rotary club will host its long-standing event, more than 30 years running, at Camp Duncan YMCA on Dec. 4. The first group of an expected 350 children will come about noon by various district's school buses. This year, St. Joseph in Round Lake and St. Bede in Ingleside were added. Big Hollow, Gavin, Fox Lake District 114, Round Lake District 116 all identify children who would benefit from the present give-away.

"George Watson started this party before the Rotary Club started 27 years ago. He was one of Rotary's charter members," said Rotary Secretary Mary Fran Nordstrom.

The event, the George Watson Memorial Neediest Kids party, is named in his honor. Watson owned Holiday Park, now a Cambridge subdivision, for many years.

Nordstrom said the look on the children's faces makes the effort all worthwhile.

Tony Rogan of Rogan's boots, Toys for Tots, and Cass Culp's children's foundation from Wauconda and Aldi's help support the event. The youngsters are treated to hot dogs and chips and a visit from Mrs. Claus.

Round Lake High School's choir will provide entertainment and Grant High's National Junior Honor Society will be on hand.

Club members and YMCA staff will pitch in for set-up on Dec. 2.

The Rotary Club, in its second century of existence nationally, meets locally at ZaZa's restaurant in Ingleside. Meetings are every Friday at noon. John Donnellan, superintendent of Fox Lake District 114, is the current Rotary Club president.

In other items of the season, one can drop off a toy at the Toys for Tots bin at Fox Lake Fire Department Station No. 2. Also, the fire department's annual raffle calendars are on sale.

Grant effort readies to help needy this season

Grant Township officials believe they will be ready for the holiday demand for their services thanks to efforts of many groups.

Fox Lake and Ingleside Post Office carriers collected foods at the end of their routes Nov. 19, while a group from St. Bede Church pitched in as well as Girl Scouts and others. Earlier, Grant High School's student council donated food.

"Dee Reynolds of our staff organizes the food drive each year, and she is our right hand person for it. She has been doing it for almost 20 years. I thought with all the giving for the Hurricane Katrina victims, that we would be down this year, but the generosity was great. There was a group of Girl Scouts and a scout from Grayslake pitched in," said Grant Township Supervisor Kay Starostovic.

The Christmas basket food distribution will be on Dec. 19, and the Adopt-a-Family on Dec. 20.

"We had more than 40 people here from St. Bede on Sunday," she said.

"The postal carriers collected food from their routes was a local effort, compared to the effort in the spring, which is a national one," said Fox Lake Postmaster John Pieger.

Taveirne Middle School students are vying for a pizza party as they collect canned food for the Lake County Food Drive.

"We have a very active Student Council this year. The winning class gets the pizza party," said Henny Sands, Taveirne Middle School principal.

The students will then launch into their own Toys for Tots collection effort.

Tis the season...

Genesee Theatre offers full slate of shows to get people in holiday spirit

By Matt Pera

In recent years, if Lake County residents wanted to see a quality, professionally-produced holiday show, it meant making a drive into downtown Chicago.

But, with the opening of the Genesee Theatre in Waukegan last December, that trek is no longer the only option.

"The Genesee is a reason to stay in the community and support a suburban theatre," Genesee Theatre General Manager David Rovine said. "We hope we've demonstrated with the quality of acts we have here, and the broad range of performances and entertainment, you don't have to make that journey (to Chicago)."

This year's slate of December shows represents the Genesee Theatre's first full offering of holiday entertainment, with several options from which to choose.

Rovine explained that the 2005 holiday lineup showed that the theatre was hitting its stride after a year of business, quadrupling the number of shows it offered in December 2004.

"You can see we're falling into a rhythm," he said. "Last year we had three shows in December and this year we have 12."

For those looking to get into the holiday spirit, five shows in particular stand out on the Genesee's roster this month.

First up will be "Jingle Bell Rock" on Dec. 10. The show will feature a wide variety of acts singing doo-wop versions of holiday favorites. Some of the groups set to perform are The Crystals (who are known for songs like "Frosty the Snowman" and "Da Doo Ron Ron"), The Contours ("Santa Claus is Coming to Town"), The Tokens ("The Lion Sleeps Tonight" and "Christmas with You") and Dr. Elmo ("Grandma Got Run Over by a Reindeer").

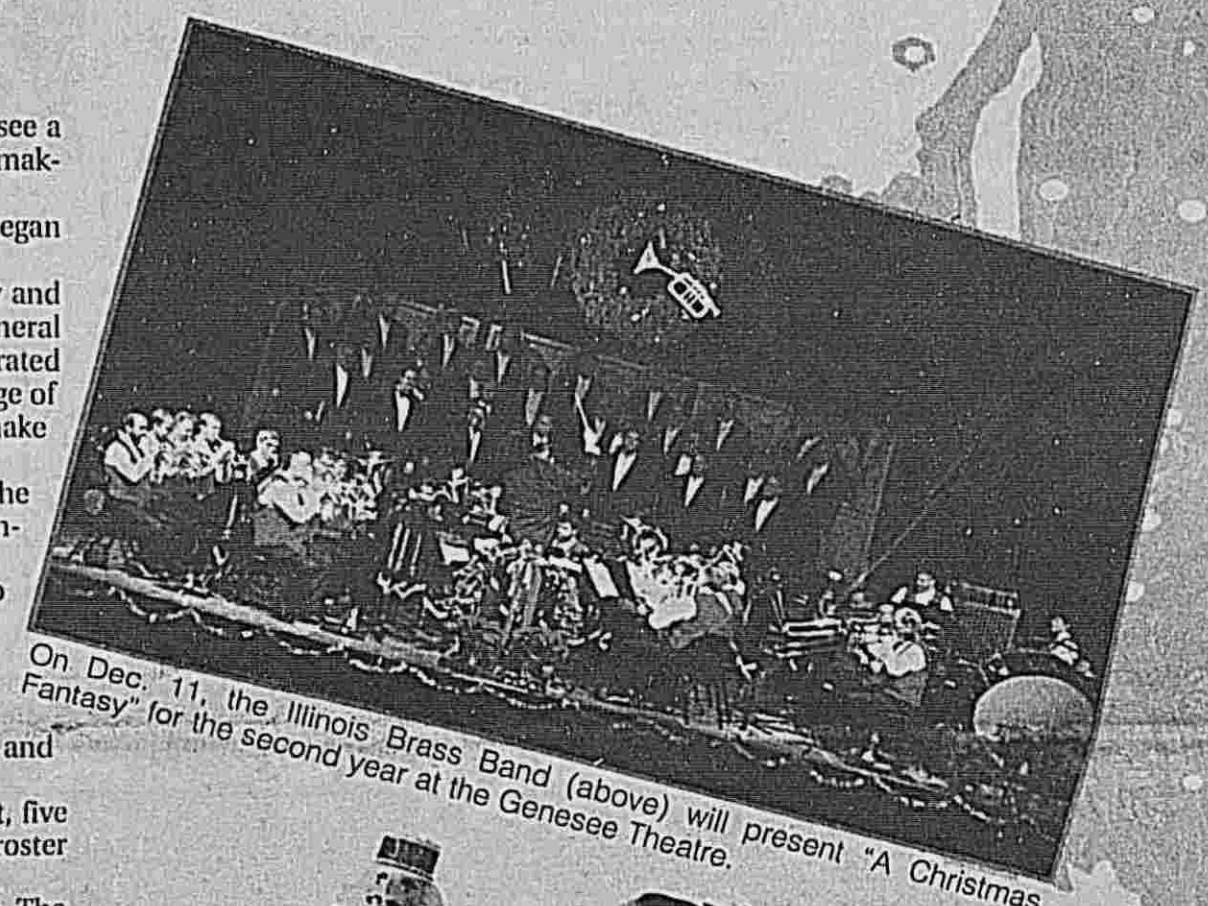

The Jingle Bell Rockin' Orchestra will also perform at the show.

The following day, Dec. 11, the North American Brass Band Association Champion Illinois Brass Band will present "A Christmas Fantasy" for the second year at the Genesee Theatre.

Rovine said he was excited to bring the brass band back to Waukegan.

"They did a great job last year," Rovine said. "It's a very impressive show."

The family-oriented show includes a 30-piece brass ensemble, along with the Brotherhood of Harmony Chorus and the Red Rose Children's Choir.

On Dec. 11, the Illinois Brass Band (above) will present "A Christmas Fantasy" for the second year at the Genesee Theatre.

Grammy Award-winning singer Anne Murray will perform her holiday special, "What a Wonderful Christmas" on Dec. 14 at the Genesee Theatre.

Dancer North's "The Magic of the Nutcracker," which has been a Lake County staple since 1989, will be performed for the first time at the Genesee Theatre on Dec. 17 and 18.

Rockettes' 'Christmas Spectacular' kicks off holiday season

By Tom Witom

Seeing the Rockettes perform "The Radio City Christmas Spectacular" at Rosemont Theatre from the perspective of a 2-and-a-half-year-old grandson proved a real eye-opener.

"Oh, wow!" exclaimed the excited toddler in our group. Time and again, he voiced his approval of the holiday show.

While the eye-popping costumes and precision dancing of the 18 Rockettes – part of a 55-member company – has always impressed us, little Luke was wild about Santa (Frank Mastrone), who in one scene asked if his glow-in-the-dark peppermint-striped coat made him look thinner.

Another scene that found particular favor with Luke was the Little Girl's Dream from "The Nutcracker." Teddy bears, pandas, Russian, Arabian and baby doll bears all danced gracefully (a wonder, since each costume weighs from 30 to 60 pounds) beneath a gigantic Christmas tree to the music of Tchaikovsky.

The "Parade of the Wooden Soldiers" remains a showstopper, ending as it always does with the dancers falling like a bunch of dominoes in well-orchestrated sequence.

And the Living Nativity, which concludes the one-hour 45-minute show, enthralls young and old alike as it reenacts the biblical story of the Christ child's arrival. This number is a Radio City's holiday tradition since it was first performed in 1933. Songs include "O Little Town of Bethlehem," "We Three Kings" and "O Come All Ye Faithful," among others. The pageantry involves a four-legged cast of five sheep, three camels and two donkeys.

In between are scenes of Christmas in New York, Santa's workshop and carol of the bells that give the energetic cast a chance to show its proficiency in tap, ballet, jazz and modern dance.

Six little people appear as baby bears, dancing snowmen and Santa's elves.

Clara and a dancing bear in a scene from the "Radio City Christmas Spectacular."

Ithamar Enriquez, Nicky Margolis, Niki Lindgren and Rebecca Sage Allen in a scene from Second City e.t.c.'s latest review, "Immaculate Deception."

'Immaculate Deception' goes for the laughs

By Tom Witom

A youthful, well-scrubbed cast has taken the stage at Second City e.t.c. for the comedy club's 28th revue, "Immaculate Deception."

And they waste no time getting into the satirical marksmanship that has made this – and the parent troupe that occupies the main stage next door – icons of the genre.

An amusing skit involves high school students reading the form-letter responses from U.S. Congressman Rahm Emanuel to letters that were supposed to be on the war in Iraq but in which they inserted their own personal problems.

The improvisational scenes, in which audience and cast interact, worked well on opening night. One involved a phrase "Why argue?" that was incorporated into an artist's work-in-progress.

There's much levity when the company joins in song, too, especially one (Claims Denied) involving a local Veterans Administration office.

Jim Carlson directs an eager cast that includes Ithamar Enriquez, Rebecca Sage Allen, Robert Janas, Niki Lindgren, Nicky Margolis and Alex Fendrich.

Urban folk performers McNamara & Neeley coming to Greenleaf Grill on Dec. 4

The Lake County Folk Club's 2005-06 Showcase Stage season brings regional touring urban folk performers McNamara & Neeley to its stage on Sunday, Dec. 4 at 7 p.m. at The Greenleaf Grill, 301 Greenleaf Ave., Park City. The musical event is an all ages event open to the public.

"An evening spent in the presence of Chris McNamara and Rick Neeley, absorbing their musical gifts, gives one enough positive energy to last the month and then some!" said Sharon Brunot of the Someplace Else Folk Music Series in LaGrange.

Both McNamara and Neeley have their musical roots in the '60s folk revival in and around the Chicago area. McNamara's style spans classical as well as gospel, folk and Celtic music. In addition to performing traditional and others, material, McNamara sets her own writings to music, playing a 6-string guitar.

A tremendous musical knowledge and impeccable 12-string guitar and 5-string banjo playing characterizes Neeley. In performance,

Rick Neeley and Chris McNamara

Neeley uses that talent to present a vast array of songs from contemporary to originals.

Together, McNamara and Neeley have recorded a CD called We're Having Fun Now and have found a way to combine two different musical styles into a genre called "Urban Folk." In concert, their performance and spontaneous stage banter lets their audiences know how much they musically enjoy performing.

Opening for McNamara and Neeley is singer-songwriter, Lake County Folk Club member, and music enthusiast Jazzman Jeff Justman who will perform his personable brand of Acoustic Folk-Country Roots Music (mixed with fun!) on the Dec. 4 Showcase Stage.

Admission is $6 for adults and $5 for Lake County Folk Club members, $5 students and seniors. All ages are welcome and food and beverages are available at The Greenleaf Grill. For additional information call The Lake County Folk Club at 847-295-7228.

Annual performance of 'The Cracked Nut' slated

This year marks the 10th anniversary of TJ & Company Dance Theatre's annual performance of The Cracked Nut. Since 1996, TJ & Company Dance Theatre, led by artistic director Terri Jo Garner Englund, has produced this unique interpretation to Tchaikovsky's music from The Nutcracker Suite as part of the company repertoire. To celebrate the 10th Anniversary of this traditional holiday performance, an anniversary raffle will take place for audience members. Raffle tickets will be available at all three performances.

The original story of The Cracked Nut takes the audience on a New Year's Eve adventure with Charlotte, a little girl who discovers a magical nut in her attic. Charlotte's journey with the nut takes her into a battle against giant squirrels and even into a fierce hailstorm, before leading her far into the galaxy on an alien spaceship. The performance incorporates many dance styles from ballet to modern to tap, transforming a traditional tale into an eclectic and fun performance.

Since September, dancers as young as 6-years-old have been rehearsing with Chicagoland professionals for the winter performance. Professional dancers and choreog-raphers include Terri Jo Garner Englund, Stacey Bowden, Jessica Emery, Cari Holmes, Kristina Posephil, James Morrow, Katie Pavlik, Jenny Shore, and Kristy White.

COOKING BY THE BOOK

Holiday merrymaking is often associated with a special beverage. Whether it's an old standby or something new, with alcohol or without, hosts often find a cocktail can add to the conviviality of their parties.

"Some Like It Hot" (Chronicle Books) by Holly Burrows and Katie Walter provides 50 appealing drink recipes to serve at gatherings with close friends or the extended family. Glogg, a Scandinavian spiced wine, traditionally appears during Advent and is considered a wonderful way to warm up on a cold winter's night.

For something with a touch of elegance, try Apricot Royale, one of many pick-me-ups featured in Ben Reed's "Sunshine Cocktails" (Ryland Peters & Small).

Meanwhile, "Trader Vic's Tiki Party!" (Ten Speed Press) by Steve

Siegelman offers a tropical spin to party fare. Virgin Bahia, made either in a cocktail shaker or blender, is a flavorful, alcohol-free Pina Colada. The book also includes many of the drink - as well as food - recipes that have made the Hawaiian-themed restaurant and bar a popular venue for more than 50 years.

Apricot Royale

(From "Sunshine Cocktails")

1 and three-quarter oz. apricot brandy
Three-quarter oz. fresh lemon juice
Three-quarter oz. simple syrup
Dash of peach bitters
Dash of orange bitters
Champagne, to float
Apricot slice, to garnish

Add all the ingredients, except the champagne, to a shaker filled with ice; shake sharply, and strain into a rocks glass filled with ice. Gently layer a float of champagne over the surface of the drink. Garnish with an apricot slice and serve.

Virgin Bahia

(From "Trader Vic's Tiki Party!")

5 oz. unsweetened pineapple juice
1 oz. coconut syrup
1 one-half cups crushed ice
1 fruit stick, for garnish
1 sprig mint, for garnish

Glassware: Double old-fashioned or highball glass

Shake the pineapple juice, coconut syrup and crushed ice in a cocktail shaker and pour into the glass without straining. Garnish with the fruit stick and mint sprig.

Glogg

(From "Some Like It Hot")

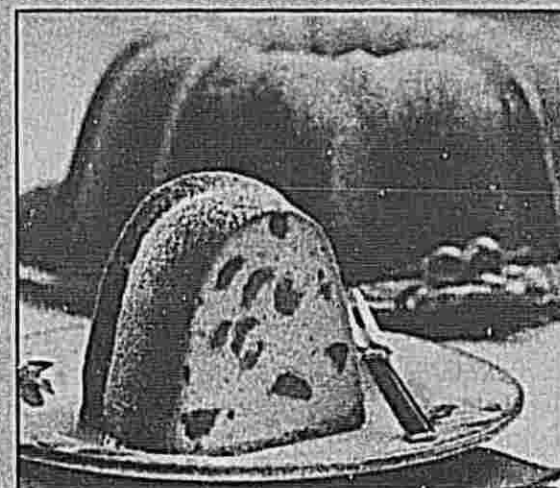

1 bottle (750 ml) ruby port
1 bottle (750 ml) sweet white wine, such as Muscat or Sauternes
1 bottle (750 ml) sweet sherry
1 one-half cups dry, full-bodied red wine, such as chianti or Burgundy
16 whole cloves
1 and one-half tsp. crushed cardamom pods
1 cinnamon stick
1 cup sugar
4 oz. (one-half cup) brandy

Garnish

One-half cup raisins
One-half cup dried figs, quartered
1 cup slivered almonds

Combine all the ingredients (except the garnish) in a large saucepan and simmer over medium heat for 15 minutes. Remove from the heat, strain and discard the solids.

Ladle into mugs, garnish with the raisins, figs and almonds and serve.

Cherries Are A Festive Holiday Treat

Cherry Pound Cake is a beautiful addition to holiday celebrations

There's a great alternative to the traditional holiday fruitcake-Cherry Pound Cake. It's a simple, yet elegant dessert for any holiday gathering.

Festive maraschino cherries add color and flavor to this delicious cake. And as a holiday bonus, this recipe can be served as a bundt cake when entertaining or made into mini loaves for gift giving.

Cherry Pound Cake

Prep Time: 25 minutes
Makes one (10-inch) cake

1 1/4 cups butter, softened
2 3/4 cups sugar
5 eggs
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
3 cups all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 (14-ounce) can Eagle Brand Sweetened Condensed Milk (NOT evaporated milk), divided
2 cups quartered maraschino cherries, well drained, reserving 1/3 cup juice
Powdered sugar or Chocolate Frosting (recipe follows)

1. In large bowl with electric mixer, beat butter, sugar, eggs and vanilla on low speed until blended, then on high speed five minutes until light and fluffy.
2. Combine flour, baking powder and salt. Add dry ingredients alternately with 1/2 cup sweetened condensed milk to creamed mixture, mixing lightly after each addition.
3. Fold in cherries. Turn batter into greased and floured 10-inch bundt or tube pan.

5. Let cool in pan five minutes; invert cake onto rack and let cool completely.
6. Dust with powdered sugar just before serving or, spoon chocolate frosting over cooled cake. Store leftovers covered.

Chocolate Frosting: In medium saucepan, combine remaining sweetened condensed milk with two (1-ounce) squares unsweetened chocolate. Cook and stir over low heat until chocolate melts and mixture is thickened. Stir in cherry juice.

Carefree HOLIDAY COOKING

Making your holiday to-do list? Planning holiday meals your friends and family will love should be an enjoyable and stress-free task. A few time-saving tips will help you make the most out of your time in the kitchen and leave your guests satisfied.

■ Updating a holiday menu can be easy to do with a few touches to family favorites. For a crowd-pleasing dish, put a new twist on mashed potatoes with cheddar and bacon. Keep mashed potato flakes on hand to thicken soups.

■ Stock up on ingredients that can be used in several recipes. Pantry staples, such as peanut butter and jelly, have a variety of uses beyond sandwiches. Use grape jelly as a glaze for meats, or spice up a traditional holiday dessert, such as cannolis with orange marmalade.

■ Choose one or two dishes that can be made a day ahead, such as appetizers or snacks and soups. The fresh roasted taste of peanut butter, added to a simple snack mix, is sure to please both kids and adults. Most soups and sauces can also be made the day before, giving ingredients time to blend flavors.

Beef Brisket With Mushrooms and Pearl Onions

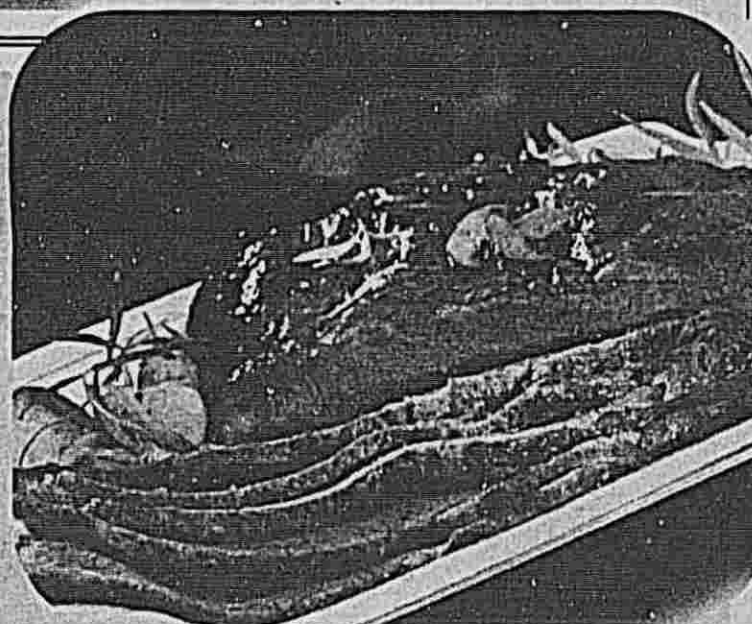

4 pounds beef brisket
1 (1-ounce) envelope dry onion soup mix
1 (10.25-ounce) jar Smucker's Low Sugar Grape Jelly
1 (12-ounce) jar Crosse & Blackwell Seafood Cocktail Sauce
2 tablespoons butter
1 (6-ounce) package fresh sliced mushrooms
1 (16-ounce) package frozen white pearl onions, thawed
2 tablespoons chopped fresh tarragon
Crisco No-Stick Cooking Spray

Preheat oven to 350°F. Place sheet of heavy-duty aluminum foil in shallow roasting pan with foil extending 6 inches beyond pan on either side. Spray with no-stick cooking spray. Place brisket fat-side down in middle of foil.

Combine dry onion soup mix with jelly and cocktail sauce in medium bowl. Pour half of mixture over brisket; turn brisket fat-side up, covering with remaining onion mixture. Bring both sides of foil to middle and fold foil down on itself several times. Repeat with two remaining sides. Bake 3 hours or until fork-tender. Remove from oven. (Brisket can be cooled and held in refrigerator overnight at this point.)

In 10-inch skillet melt 2 tablespoons butter; sauté mushrooms and onions 5 to 8 minutes or until light golden brown.

Remove brisket from pan; pour off juices, skimming fat off top. Remove layer of fat from brisket. Slice meat across grain into thin slices. Return meat to roaster. Top meat with mushroom mixture, meat juices and tarragon. Cover with foil. Return to oven to heat through before serving. Makes 8 servings

Cheddar & Bacon Smashed Potatoes

2-1/2 cups water
5 tablespoons butter
1 teaspoon salt
1 cup heavy cream, half-and-half or milk
1 (4.9-ounce) package Hungry Jack Cheddar & Bacon Potatoes
2 cups Hungry Jack Mashed Potato Flakes
1/3 cup crumbled crispy cooked bacon (4 slices), if desired

Combine water, butter, salt, heavy cream, sauce mix and potato slices in 3-quart saucepan; stir. Heat to boiling; reduce heat to low and cover. Simmer 12 to 15 minutes, stirring occasionally, or until potatoes are tender. Remove from heat. Add potato flakes and additional bacon, if desired. Stir just until potato flakes are incorporated.

Makes 5 cups or 10 (1/2 cup) servings

Variation: For added zip, stir in 2 tablespoons pure horseradish with potato flakes.

Following the brass band show, which Rovine said he hopes will become an annual staple at the Genesee, Grammy Award-winning singer Anne Murray will perform Dec. 14, with the holiday special, "What a Wonderful Christmas."

Murray's career has spanned three decades, featuring styles ranging from country to adult contemporary. She will sing holiday favorites from her Christmas album, as well as a selection of her greatest hits.

A show Rovine said he was very excited to bring to the Genesee is "The Magic of the Nutcracker," which will be featured at the theatre on Dec. 17 and 18.

The grand finale of the theatre's holiday programming will bring vocal and piano soloist Jim Brickman to Waukegan on Dec. 26.

The multi-million selling performer has become well-known for his holiday special. Aside from his seasonal songs, Brickman's performance will also feature songs from his new album, "The Disney Songbook," with music from many of Disney's best-known animated films.

"That's a very important part of what I want to accomplish onstage, to inspire audiences to develop a love and appreciation of music, from classical to pop and everything in between," Brickman said in a statement.

"Jingle Bell Rock," a show featuring a wide variety of acts singing doo-wop versions of holiday favorites, will kick off Genesee's season shows on Dec. 10.

While Rovine said tickets for the Anne Murray show were already close to sold out, he added that plenty of tickets were still available for all other holiday shows.

He said this time of year was one of the busiest for the Genesee Theatre.

"People want to go out during this time period," he said. "They're in the mood to go out. They buy some tickets as holiday gifts. It's a great opportunity for families to come together and enjoy a common experience. A live theatre performance is always a treat."

A Moving Violation

Most drivers have a love affair with their cars. I have a dysfunctional relationship with mine.

My husband and I recently traded cars to save on gasoline. I got his beloved Jeep and he now drives my Suburban to the train station.

He should have considered the "Henny Youngman Factor": "Why did the chicken cross the road? Because my wife was driving on the curb!"

I'm an accident report waiting to happen, like the driver who explained to his insurance company, "The accident was caused by me waving to the man I hit last week."

So I'm following another mom's advice by making the sign of the cross to drivers "saluting" me.

This came in handy yesterday while I maneuvered through the construction minefield that is now Rand Road in Lake Zurich. A charitable pedestrian asking motorists for donations even pretended he was a bullfighter after dodging me three times before I found my way out of the intersection.

I've also had difficulty using a stick shift. I resorted to some fancy stunt work when I thought I'd left my husband's car idling in "Park". Luckily the driver's side door was open, so I didn't have to dive through the window.

And speaking of leaving things open, I had the best of intentions when I took my new "Locomobile" through a carwash, accompanied by the only family member now willing to ride with me... "Braveheart BoBo" the dog. Being a water dog, BoBo thoroughly enjoyed our good dousing when I couldn't figure out how to close the sunroof.

Leslie Glazier-Werner

LES ON LIFE

So I'm going to take the advice of yet another mom. Cindy discovered that detergent mistaken for windshield wash produces enough suds to effectively clean a moving vehicle.

After just four weeks packed with these fiascos, you'd think my husband would remember back to the first time I drove one of his cars. Even though he'd scrimped and saved for his first new car, he'd lost his heart and mind enough to let me drive his prized AMC Pacer to work one morning. I didn't even make it around the block before I drove up the back end of a police squad car.

Perhaps it was unfortunate experiences like these in the 1900's that prompted The Law to take a hard line with all the green-horns behind the wheel. A "Motor Age" magazine of the time reported that policeman along Chicago's North Shore Drive fired on speeders who refused to stop, and Mayor Dennis of Glencoe ordered steel cables strung across main roads to prevent automobiles from entering his jurisdiction...Hey, what about those curbs?

Charity and comfort are in, 'Bling' is out

During the 2005 holiday season, look for glamour and glitz to be replaced by thoughtful, personalized exchanges of gifts that emphasize substance over style. Status symbols are out; remembrances and gestures capturing the spirit of the season are in.

One woman has urged her friends to send packages of coffee, candy, chocolate bars and good old-fashioned jelly beans to troops in Iraq, in lieu of exchanging presents with her at home. A greeting card reading "Troops away from home this holiday season will celebrate with the care package of goodies I sent in your name" will arrive in the mailboxes of her friends. Although she doesn't have any family members in the military, she says the idea came to her because it seemed like the best way to express her feelings this holiday season. Similar ideas of donations in lieu of presents incorporate charitable gifts to help those recovering from Hurricane Katrina.

Nostalgia offers a sense of security during seasons of uncertainty, and gifts that remind us of the traditional rituals of the holidays, along with the sense of hearth and home, are recommended. Comfort foods, for example, are an ideal gift, especially when combined with a less perishable item that will endure throughout the entire year. Fruitcakes may come to mind because although some of us wish they would perish, they are as tough as tires, but fortunately they are not in vogue for 2005. A better gift might be a fresh holiday wreath combined with a gift certificate to a gourmet store or bookstore.

Wines, cheeses and culinary books make great gifts, but consider combining them for a creative twist. Offer a bottle of champagne paired with a subscription to a magazine for wine connoisseurs or a book about the world's great wine regions.

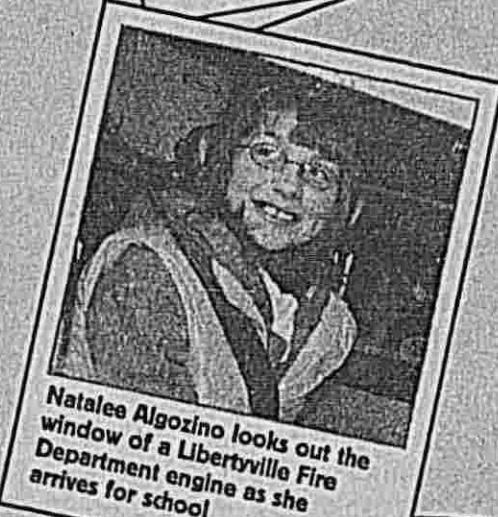

Anything that conveys a sense of hope, optimism, security and comfort is going to be a winner this year, and handmade gifts or cards that are artistically and tastefully created will be popular, as they were in 2001, after the tragedy of Sept. 11. You don't have to make your own; many stores are stocking entire lines of handmade, limited edition greeting cards to send by themselves or add to a gift-wrapped present.

Attic Playhouse presents 'Greetings!'

Attic Playhouse presents Greetings! A wacky, heartwarming and clever spin on holiday magic and 'spirits' that even Scrooge would enjoy.

Greetings! begins with Andy Gorski and his fiancée, Randi, on a flight to his parent's home in Pittsburgh on Christmas Eve. Andy is not only afraid to fly but afraid that his dysfunctional family will scare off Randi. At the Gorski's working-class home, we meet his mom, Emily, busy getting ready for her son to arrive. Her husband, Phil, (a former minor league baseball player, now retired grocery store owner, with an attitude to equal Archie Bunker) is finishing hanging the Christmas lights. Their son, Mickey, is mentally challenged with the vocabulary consisting of "Wow" and "Oh boy", is having a great time finishing the decorations on the tree. Things start to unravel instantly as Andy and Randi arrive.

Christmas Eve dinner quickly becomes a comic shambles when it is discovered that Randi is not only Jewish but an atheist who doesn't speak to her parents. Just as things reach a point of no return, a mysterious "visitor" arrives from a surprising place with an unexpected message.

Performances run through Dec. 18. Fridays and Saturdays at 8 p.m. and Sundays at 3 p.m. Tickets are $18 with advanced purchase and $20 at the door. Special discounts are given to seniors, students, military personnel and groups. Attic Playhouse is located at 410 Sheridan Rd., Highwood. For tickets or further information call 847-433-2660.

The Kid and I: The director of "Wayne's World" brings us a comedy loosely based on a true story. It stars Tom Arnold, Linda Hamilton, Henry Winkler, Joe Mantegna, and Shannon Elizabeth.

Bill Williams (Arnold) is a down-and-out actor who is suddenly hired to write a sequel to a "True Lies," the action film that made him famous more than a decade ago. When Bill learns that his young co-star Aaron is a rich kid with no acting experience, what appeared to be the chance for a major comeback turns into a nightmare.

On a journey of shocking misadventures, the unlikely duo discover that it takes more courage to face real life challenges than it does to fight bad guys on the big screen. Although Aaron may be inexperienced as an actor, his tenacious spirit, unwavering optimism and unconditional friendship turns out to be an important, enduring gift to Bill. (PG-13)

Charlie (John Cusack) is a Wichita, Kansas mob lawyer that hooks up with strip club manager Vic (Billy Bob Thornton of "Bad Santa") to rob mob boss Bill (Randy Quaid) of $2 million on Christmas Eve. Vic is vicious to the bone and the disillusioned Charlie is ripe to be duped of the cash and will probably be killed in the process. Charlie's gold-digger ex-wife is now married to his best friend Pete (Oliver Platt), a sentimental drunk. Charlie's son is sure his father is a loser and hates him with a passion. Completing the circle of a messed up personal life is Charlie falling for femme fatale Renata (Connie Nielsen).

The major interest for these gangsters is a string of strip clubs featuring some rather expert pole dancing. The plot goes into overdrive on the night of the heist. It's cold and icy and Charlie is repeatedly stopped by the police for his erratic driving. Wicked humor rules as Vic's wife meets her end and Bill proves difficult to get rid of. Along the way there are a number of funny lines.

Unlike the somewhat similar "Kiss, Kiss, Bang, Bang," the film was interesting but unable to hold our interest and build in intensity as the story unfolded. To us it was more a series of skits rather than a one- and-a-half-hour movie.

Harold Ramis, the director of "The Ice Harvest" lives in the Chicago area. He insisted on the film being made in Chicago, which was probably helped by both the financial incentives offered by the state of Illinois and the fact that John Cusack is also from the area. His sister Joan still lives in Chicago.

Billy Bob Thornton and John Cusack star in Ice Harvest

It's very unusual for Chicago to have a film made here (shot primarily in Waukegan) but is about somewhere else (Wichita).

The most obvious comparison when watching this film unfold is to the completely irreverent but hilarious "Bad Santa," with a bit of "A Simple Plan," though not as malicious. It's a classic case of the whole being less than the sum of the parts. Cusack and Platt give great performances, and Connie Nielsen's sultry delivery is terrific. The dark edgy look of the film mirrors the naughty noir of the story. But "The Ice Harvest" never quite develops the muscle to deliver the knockout punch.

Looney Lainey grew on me

A volunteer asked me to do her a favor. Would I take a dog for just a day – a foster home would take her the following day. “No problem,” was my answer. I’ll never forget the day my foster dog we affectionately nicknamed Looney Lainey came into my life. She was a beagle mix that looked like she should be running through a field, her owner with rifle in hand ready to knock off the animal of his choice. I could see her dragging off the duck, goose, or whatever hunters hunt. But not this dog, here she sat in a suburban home completely out of place. The foster home that was lined up for Lainey fell through so I agreed to keep fostering her. After a few days Lainey began settling in and her true nature began to show through. She had pee accidents at least 2-3 times a day, was hyper and stubborn. She routinely knocked down visitors as she jumped full force on them in excitement. Me, the major dog lover was finding it very hard to love this dog.

to dig her way out and I frantically searched and found her. I lined up huge rocks and logs all around the fence in an attempt to stop her digging. She then proceeded to dig whopper size holes in my nice yard. Finally I resorted to having to stay outside with her, which was extremely difficult because of my busy schedule.

At my wits end I decided to work with her on correcting her behavior problems and that I must change MY attitude if we are to live in harmony. I scheduled time in my already over booked schedule and worked one-on-one with Lainey. I began to look at her differently too. I saw her free spirit and her happy-go-lucky ways. I noticed the way she bounced along rather than simply walking sometimes springing up in the air as if to say, “whoopie, life’s grand!” I noticed the sweet relationship she shared with four-year-old volunteer, Ziggy.

But even though she was making progress no one seemed to want to adopt her. It was six long months when one day the perfect family came along. It was a family with two young boys, a stockade-fenced yard and a beautiful home. I dropped her off on a Sunday night. I cried the whole way home.

LaCASA's invites civic and community leaders to breakfast assembly on Dec. 7

The Lake County Council Against Sexual Assault, LaCASA has been working alongside Lake Counties civic and community groups for more than 20 years.

It is part of the non-profit organization's mission to support, engage and collaborate with civic and community groups within Lake County. Many groups have generously provided their time, funds and donations of all kinds; and many others would no doubt help support LaCASA if they knew more about its unduplicated efforts to assist sexual assault survivors and educate the community.

The event time is 7:30 a.m. to 8:30 a.m. to say "Thanks" for working with them and to celebrate the relationships that have formed over the years.

If you have not worked with or even heard of LaCASA, the organization invites you as well to get to know the work we do here, for survivors of sexual assault and abuse. This is a wonderful opportunity to meet, network and create a new relationship.

To attend this special morning of gratitude and comradery, tour the LaCASA/Zacharias Center (4275 Old Grand Ave. in Gurnee) and start your day off right, please R.S.V.P. to Wendy Ivy, Program Coordinator of Volunteers and Training 847-244-1187 ext. 24

'The Christmas Ship Tree' storytelling and book signing set for Dec. 11 in Kenosha

The Kenosha Public Museum is pleased to welcome Rochelle Pennington, author of The Christmas Tree Ship and The Christmas Tree Ship: The Story of Captain Santa on Sunday, Dec. 11 at 2 p.m. Pennington will tell this great story of Wisconsin maritime history and holiday giving. The program is free and open to the public. Seating is unreserved. Copies of both books will be available for purchase and inscription.

Listen to the tale of "Captain Santa" and his yearly voyage on Lake Michigan to bring freshly cut trees to Chicago from the Upper Peninsula. Learn about the shipwreck disaster off Two Rivers in 1912 and how trees still arrived to needy families. Pennington's interactive presentation features many photos and hand-on objects. Families are sure to enjoy and be inspired by this historic holiday story. "The Christmas Tree Book: The Story of Captain Santa," is an especially appealing family book. Everyone will enjoy both the fascinating, heartwarming story and the artwork. It is lavishly illustrated by the late, renowned seascape artist Charles Vickery.

A three-masted schooner, the Rouse Simmons, nicknamed "The Christmas Tree Ship", was captained by the legendary Herman Schueneman, also known as "Captain Santa," who embodied the true meaning of the season through his generosity in giving away free Christmas trees to anyone too poor to buy one. The ship has many Wisconsin ties. It was built in Milwaukee in 1868. It's anchor is on display at the Milwaukee Yacht Club. And several other artifacts from the vessel are on display at the Roger's Street Fishing Village in Two Rivers and at the Pier Wisconsin Museum in Milwaukee. The ship was financed by a wealthy Kenosha Rouse Simmons; his family later founded the Simmons Mattress Company.

The story has been the subject of two books, a documentary on the Weather Channel's "Storm Stories," and a musical stage production. Pennington lives in Campbellsport, Wisconsin.

For more information call the museum at 262-653-4140.

Jazzman Jeff Justman performs at The Glass Palette

Regional touring folk-country performer Jazzman Jeff Justman will be appearing at The Glass Palette, a stained glass art studio located at 38500 N. U.S. Hwy. 45 in Milburn from 11:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. as part of the Wilmot Area Holiday and Arts Tour.

Jazzman Jeff Justman is an acoustic folk-country roots performer, singer-songwriter, and music enthusiast. He combines his musical artistry with fun, energy, intelligence and always a rhythm beat that connects with audiences.

His performances combine the best elements of singer-songwriters, performing original compositions and reinterpreting, rearranging and energizing others' songs from the folk, country, rock and primitive blues genres...all blended into his own style of acoustic folk-country roots music.

Jazzman Jess Justman's music performances are filled with literary lyrics, moving melodies, expressive and well-phrased vocals, partnered with his ever present driving acoustic rhythms on the 6 string guitar, lap guitar or 5 string banjo voiced with ringing thumb and finger picked notes and two octave instrumentation combinations.

In a musical cultural age of regression where renaissance is the exception rather than the norm, Jazzman Jeff Justman is not an easy artist to categorize and that is part of the joy and fun of his musical performances. As Jeff explains, "Folk musicians seem to think my music is country. Country musicians call it rock. Rock musicians call it bluegrass. Bluegrassers call it jazz. Jazz enthusiasts swear it is primitive acoustic blues and blues fans say it is the real deal folk music. Realistically, I draw heavily on all of those musical heritage genres and intentionally combine and stir up the musical mix to blend it into a dynamic musical canvas of multi-textures that make the music alive and with a beat. Somewhere the nickname Jazzman just stuck by the way, but in an abstract sense it is a form of pure jazz."

Jeff is also very active in Lake County's music community where he stages and hosts a twice monthly Acoustic Music Jam in Grayslake and is a board member of The Lake County Folk Club.

Appearing with Jazzman Jeff Justman at the Glass Palette will be singer-songwriter, Jackie McDowall. Jackie McDowall is a talented up and coming singer-songwriter in her own right who performs with Jazzman Jeff Justman as both an accompanying opening act as well as at times as a musical accompanist.

You won't want to miss this performance at The Glass Palette on Saturday, Dec. 3 from 11:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Admission is free. For more information call 847-356-5719.

U.S. Marine: Thank you for writing

Fayetteville, N.C. (Home of Fort Bragg and the 82nd Airborne)-In his Independence Day remarks at Ford's Theater in Washington, President Bush urged Americans to "write a letter" as one way to support the troops. "We're happy to break the news. Members of Friends of our Troops have a four-decade head start on this," said G.B. Wiser, executive director of the group. "Since the founding of Vietnam Mail Call in 1965, many millions of pieces of fan mail have been sent to our troops, both at home and abroad."

"Thank you for writing me. This is a quick note to let you know that I received your mail and that I appreciate your support." This was the message on a postcard a U.S. Marine wrote to the Friends of Our Troops office after receiving a package of fan mail to share with his buddies.

Mail from all over the nation is now being received at Friends of Our Troops headquarters where it is prepared into packages to be sent out. The fan mail goes to every branch of the military.

An overview of how the campaign functions has been posted in the online photo album, <http://www.troopfan-mail.net/album.htm>.

Readers' military friends and loved ones can be VIPs when they receive a package of fan mail to share with their buddies. Send their name and complete military mailing address, along with your name, address and phone number. All military names/addresses are kept strictly confidential. It also helps to know how many are in the military unit, and until what date the military will be valid.

CLC calls 11 percent tuition rise 'a last resort'

By Tara Clifton

Staff Reporter

Students attending the College of Lake County during the 2006-07 school year will have to pay more to do so.

CLC's board of trustees approved tuition and fees hikes for next school year at its last meeting.

In-district students will pay $71 per credit hour, compared to the $62.95 they paid this year, or 11.3 percent higher. The comprehensive fee will rise from $5.80 per credit hour to $7, and the technology fee will be $2 per credit hour rather than $1.25.

Tameka Lewis, 21, of Zion said the increases don't really make a difference.

"School is expensive either way you go," said Lewis, who is taking 17 credit hours this semester. "It's kinda hard when you're working to go to school."

Other students don't mind the increases as long as the money is put to good use.

"I don't mind as long as it goes towards a good cause," said Michelle Hubi, 20, of Lake Zurich.

Brian Walley, 20, of Waukegan, nodded in agreement as he sat next to her at a cafeteria table.

"(The money) should go toward our education," Walley said.

The board of trustees worked with the student government to make sure that students were aware of the reasons behind the tuition and fees increases, said William M. Griffin, CLC's chairman.

The board depended upon its student trustee, Yvonne Lopez, to gauge student reaction, Griffin said.

"Obviously no one likes to have tuition increased, but once the case is laid out, students understand that to offer our programs there has to be increases from time to time," Griffin said.

Out-of-district students will pay $196 per credit hour rather than the current $187.95 and out-of-state students will see an increase from $258.95 per credit hour to $267.

College could have new chief in days

The hunt for a new College of Lake County president may come to an end next week.

School board trustees will convene Dec. 6 to choose one of six finalists, said Richard A. Anderson, vice chair of the board.

The candidates come from across the country, Anderson said, and range from presidents at other community colleges to those who belong to academic organizations.

"It's exciting," Anderson said. "We want to find a good mix for the college. It's really tough because they're all so qualified."

A presidential search committee brought the six finalists to the board for interviewing, said William M. Griffin, chair of the board. The committee started with a pool of 53 candidates, Griffin said.

Shaw to acquire Lakeland Media

Shaw Newspapers, owner of newspapers across northern Illinois, has reached an agreement to expand its holdings with the purchase of Lakeland Media, publisher of 12 weekly newspapers in Lake County.

The Lakeland publications will be part of the recently organized NorthWest News Group, a division of Shaw managed under the direction of Group Publisher John Rung. The acquisition is planned to take effect Dec. 1.

Rung said the addition of Lakeland Media would expand the resources of NorthWest News Group to benefit readers, advertisers and employees of all publications.

"The readers of the Lakeland papers will see improvements due to increased news gathering resources," said Rung, who also is publisher of the Northwest Herald. "Readers of the Northwest Herald, especially those in communities along McHenry County's eastern edge, will benefit from the addition of local news from Lake County."

"Our advertisers will now be able to reach Lake, McHenry, Kane and DeKalb Counties in a number of combinations, all with one buy. And all our associates, both existing staff and our new team members from Lakeland Media, are now all part of a larger, stronger information company."

Lakeland Media was founded more than 40 years ago by Marshall R. Schroeder and his son, William. Robert Schroeder, the executive vice president of Lakeland Media and the grandson and son of the founders, will remain as general manager of the Lakeland publications under Shaw's ownership. His sister, Jill Depasquale, will be advertising director.

"I am excited about Lakeland Media's future," said Robert Schroeder. "Shaw Newspapers have a

County treasurer to have annual tax sale

Lake County Treasurer Robert Skidmore will hold the annual tax sale on Dec. 5-6.

According to state statute, the county treasurer is to have an annual tax sale to sell unpaid property taxes, drainage and special assessments.

"This is not the sale of properties. Rather it is a sale of unpaid taxes," Skidmore said. "These unpaid taxes can be redeemed with additional cost and interest for up to 2-11 years from the date of the sale."

All payments must be received by Dec. 2, at 5 p.m., in the treasurer's office at 18 N. County St., in Waukegan.

"Residents should check to be certain that their property taxes are paid in full, and they should also encourage friends and family members to check the status of their property tax payments as well," Skidmore said.

These payments can be checked by calling the Treasurer's Office at 847-377-2323 or online at www.co.lake.il.us/treasurer.

Honor grad's life remembered after fatal crash

By Steve Peterson

Staff Reporter

For 23 years, when James Wieser was interested in something, he pushed himself to go beyond to be the best.

When he picked up a saxophone as a youngster, it led to being president of the band in high school.

When he picked up a basketball for the first time to shoot hoops, he ended up winning the hustle award his sophomore year.

"He liked the kids in the band and his band teacher. He set his goals to reach his best and in so doing, raised the talents of others," said Wieser's mom, Nancy.

Wieser was remembered for those traits by dozens of teachers and former fellow students at a wake and funeral service. James Wieser died in a two-vehicle accident near Marquette, Michigan on Nov. 23. His brother Kevin survived the crash.

Teachers and friends from Gavin Elementary School and Grant High attended the services for Wieser on Nov. 28.

Mrs. Wieser said her son wished to stay and do research at Northern Michigan University this spring, working as a teachers' assistant in science psychology, minoring in Biology and was a published author in college research projects.

"He used to say that working in that area for him wasn't like going to school or work," said Nancy Wieser. "He was looking into working for his master's degree at Texas Christian University."

Wieser was in the top five of his class.

Four and one-half years ago, James Wieser and friends roamed the halls of Grant Community High School, looking forward to college and what might lie ahead.

"He was a very selfless guy. He would always be around to clean up or plan for the next event," said long-time friend of James Wieser, Nathan Miller.

Miller was valedictorian of the Class of 2001 at Grant High School and Wieser ranked No. 1 in the top ten. Both were part of the National Honor Society activities.

"We used to joke that we would be in school forever," Miller said, as both had planned to graduate college soon.

Wieser's hopes of pursuing studies in science psychology were ended by that tragic auto accident in Upper Peninsula of Michigan on Nov. 23 as Wieser returned home from Northern Michigan University. Wieser's family lives in Fox Lake Hills portion of GCHS.

"I'll always remember his sense of humor," said Miller, who stepped forward as the person who told friends of the crash.

All of his teachers were considered his favorites at Gavin and later, Grant High.

A spokesman at Northern Michigan University of Marquette, Mich. said that while there is a counseling center for students, it was reopened on Nov. 28 after being closed for the holiday. "It is one of the saddest news that a university could receive," said spokesman Cindy Paavola.

Wieser's former coaches spoke well of his efforts, although not a natural-born athletic person.

"He was always a polite kid. He was the kind of boy whom you would like to have as your son," said Fritz Kazlauskis, Wieser's sophomore basketball coach.

"He was a good friend. I went to Stanton Middle School and he went to Gavin, so we met in freshman year in high school. We had an honors English class together and started a relationship on the freshman and sophomore basketball teams."

"He wasn't a starter, but he forced you to play hard until you couldn't breathe," Miller said. Wieser won the hustle award for his dedication and academic honors as well.

The class members had just worked on the successful referendum campaign to build the latest addition to GCHS, then had prom and graduation took place that day in early June, 2001, when the boys baseball team played in the sectional baseball game. Wieser, in addition to hoops, was on the boys soccer team as well. The grads got together often in their college years.

Miller spoke at the funeral service, praising his friends' many attributes.

Wieser's accomplishments were many in 23 years.

He won the Homer Renaker award for anatomy and physiology, was Wieser also won an award from the Lieutenant Governor's office his junior year. He won the Semper Fidelis US Marine Corps band award and was a Boy's State participant.

As a youngster, he was also won many grand champions ribbons and best of show in wood working and electricity projects at the Lake County Fair. He always wanted the younger 4-H kids to learn how to give of themselves, his mom said. He was also on the track team at Grant.

"I remember that he would always be walking down the halls with a purpose, like he had somewhere to go. He was very well-liked," said former Grant High dean Tom Maple.

Arrangements were handled at Burnett-Dane Funeral Home in Libertyville. Wieser is survived by his parents, Nancy and Joseph; his brother, Kevin; Christopher of Albert Lea, Minn., and his grandparents, Carl and Anna Roscher of Buffalo Grove and Alois and Maria Wieser of Grayslake.

Lake use issues emotional in western Lake County

By Steve Peterson
Staff Reporter

Grant High School's auditorium was more than half full of folks with diverging interests over the same body of water all like to enjoy, Wooster Lake.

The lake in Grant Township encompasses parts of Fox Lake, Round Lake, unincorporated areas and some property owners have lake bottom rights while others are governed by use covenants. At issue was a proposed no-wake ordinance approved by Round Lake but not considered yet by Fox Lake. Other groups wished to have time constraints placed on when there could be wake from boats.

Peggy Cummings of the Tanneron Bay subdivision outlined where petitions on a pro no-wake ordinance came from via residents.

"I believe 52 signatures came from people not on the map. They were from Fox Lake, Ingleside and Round Lake who had had previously lived on the lake, or whose families had come to Holiday Park," Cummings said. "I am in support of a no-wake ordinance and thank Carter for getting involved, and thanked the village of Round Lake for their support and the village of Fox Lake for considering it."

Others objected to how the petitions' signatures were collected, and acknowledged that some petition backers had been asked to leave Holiday Park subdivision.

"There have been two petitions, one which supports no-wake and another that opposes it. The one for no-wake had 400 signatures on it," said Bonnie Thomson Carter (R-Ingleside).

Carter coordinated the meeting with Mark Pfister of the Lake County Health Department Lake Division and Ward Miller, head of the Stormwater Management Commission.

"I have nothing personally to gain from this. I acknowledge the history and the quality of Wooster Lake and its importance to its users," Carter said.

Others criticized the Round Lake ordinance. Resident Kirk Denz said he has obtained an opinion from an attorney who would be willing to challenge the ordinance in court. Resident Don Rowden said, "we fought a war against taxation without representation in 1776. But there are of bigger issues, such as the proposed Centex subdivision that would be built near Wooster Lake and a meeting on that will be at Dec. 6 at Fox Lake Volunteer Fire Department."

"If they want their jet skis, they should go to the Chain O' Lakes," said resident Carl Hartmann.

"The SMC and the Lake County Health Department made a very informative presentation. It's a pristine lake," said Donnie Austin, a seven-year resident.

A representative from Camp Henry Horner, which borders and uses the lake, said that the board was all for whatever safety measures could be taken.

Don Borgardt urged that any solution reached be include input from all.

Another resident heard from, who lives on the north side of the lake said 86 families live there in the unincorporated area.

"We want to try and protect the lake as a natural resource," Carter said.

Mark Pfister, specialist from Lake County Health Department Marine Division, gave an assessment of the 100-acre lake. He started by saying that the lake is very low in phosphorous and high ranks were received in biodiversity and is home to threatened and endangered species of fish, including the threatened Iowa Darter.

The lake has 46.8 percent plant coverage. He said it takes a boat only couple of minutes to make the route of the lake, at 30 MPH, making it a safety issue. In other lakes, such as 300-acre Bangs Lake in Wauconda, there is a village marine unit. Accidents in the past 1.5 years have been recorded on Gages Lake, Round Lake and Sand Lake.

"Without plants and a lot of pure water,

Don Borgardt, who has owned a home on Wooster Lake for two years, addresses the panel about the proposed no-wake zone on the lake. The town hall meeting was hosted by Lake County Board member Bonnie Thompson Carter.

these fish will simply disappear," Pfister said.

"Take a boat, counterclockwise, and drive it around the edge of the lake, that is one mile. To do that circle at 30 MPH, it would take two minutes. There is a concern when you have one, two or three boats on the lake."

Pfister said that there is always tension between those who wish to have lakes' plants removed or decreased for boating and environmental effects.

"My personal recommendation would be no boats at all. But I am a realist. This lake already has motors on it and everyone wants to argue about the fishing boat against the pontoon boat. I would like to say for the record that all boats have some negative impact on the lake," he said.

Carter said that of the property lake bottom owners, 64 percent support no-wake and 19 percent do not and 15.4 percent are undecided.

Some questioned how the residents were notified of the ordinance in Round Lake.

"I know that if people did not go door to door, we would not know," said a 15-year resident.

Shimer College ponders move

'Great Books school'
could relocate to South Side campus

By Matt Pera
Staff Reporter

Shimer College has been in Waukegan since 1979, when it moved to the city from Mt. Carroll, Illinois. But the institution that is known as "the Great Books school of the Midwest" may soon be making another move.

Shimer officials announced last week that the school had been invited to relocate to the Illinois Institute of Technology (IIT) campus on the south side of Chicago.

While no definite decision has been made, Shimer President William Craig Rice said the college was considering the move for a myriad of reasons, including the opportunity to move into improved facilities, immediate access to Chicago's cultural resources and the chance to improve enrollment numbers that he said have been stagnant for 15 years.

But he added that he felt Shimer could expand its enrollment and services in either location.

"Growth is a key concern and we would anticipate growing where we are, either in Waukegan or Chicago," Rice said. "There is room to grow in both locations."

Rice, Shimer Board of Trustees Chairman Young Kim and Shimer President Emeritus Don Moon highlighted several other reasons for considering the move in a letter addressed to the college's alumni, friends and supporters.

Some of those key points included the ability to provide traditional student services such as meal plans, a library and health clinics, strengthening Shimer's fund-raising base and "giving students contact with greater cultural diversity, larger communities and more academic activities."

But some have voiced concerns about relocating since the possibility became public.

Timothy Johnston, who graduated from Shimer in 2004 and still lives in Waukegan, said he and 2003 alumnus Ed McEncey started a committee to represent members of the Shimer community who are troubled by the possible move.

"There are a number of students and faculty and some are against and some are for it," Johnston said. "I think the biggest consensus is people don't want to completely move but would want to launch a satellite program at IIT."

Rice acknowledged that some people would be hesitant to leave Waukegan if Shimer officials opted to make the move to IIT.

"There are really advantages to Waukegan," he said. "There's an intimacy here that people are reluctant to give up and there is an opportunity to be part of the rebirth of the historic core of the city."

The Shimer Board of Trustees will continue to gather information leading up to its Jan. 17 meeting, when they will vote on the matter. If the move is approved, Shimer would open the 2006 fall semester at IIT, Kim said.

Papers entering new milestone

An era ends; a new chapter begins. Just short of 50 years of service, Lakeland Newspapers has become part of Lake County's past and stands today as part of publishing history in Illinois. As of Dec. 1, the locally owned and operated newspaper group became part of Shaw Newspapers, a company that has been in business for 154 years and a model for the family publishing tradition both in Illinois and the nation. Shaw is the third-oldest continuously owned and managed newspaper company in the U.S.

Lakeland has a proud record of service and achievement to its readers in the Lakeland area and Lake County at large. Shaw Newspapers is a distinguished and formidable steward.

Lakeland Newspapers was founded in 1956 by M.R. Schroeder, a banker and businessman, and his son, William. The company quickly became a civic and marketing force in a locality changing rapidly from small, rural communities to up-to-date suburbia. Newcomers and long-time residents of west Lake County responded positively to the Lakeland philosophy of aggressive, thorough news coverage and expanding circulation that provided a solid basis for local advertising important to emerging main street retail and service businesses.

The young company's first editorial campaign—establishing a west Lake County hospital—proved to be a disappointment.

Misgivings of some leaders undermined the hospital movement, but, ironically, the Countryside Hospital project as it was called, sparked established hospitals in Waukegan, Libertyville, Lake Forest and McHenry, to pursue expansion and modernization programs to fill regional health care needs.

Thereafter, Lakeland Newspapers' editorial campaigns were marked by signal successes for initiatives forming the basis of modern Lake County. Lakeland provided an editorial voice and leadership in the late 1950s and early 1960s for creation of the Lake County Health Dept., and County Public Works Dept. that paved the way for regional sanitation and eliminated pollution dangers of recreational lakes. Formation of a Forest Preserve Dist. to preserve open space and enhance life became a reality.

The growing newspaper group took direct aim at eliminating the system of part-time, volunteer policemen that bordered on vigilantism in some communities. Volunteers bristled at our series, "Tin Star Cops," but taxpayers and political leaders understood the need for change that would provide professional, trained and properly paid local law enforcement officers.

The weekly newspaper group was among the first voices to advocate establishment of commuter rail service on the Soo Line, an advancement that ultimately took more than 30 years to accomplish. Lakeland Newspapers provided leadership and support in establishing the Fox Waterway Agency for improving water quality and boating safety on the Chain O' Lakes. Lakeland Newspapers enthusiastically supported the voters referendum required for creation of the community college district that today stands as nationally acclaimed College of Lake County.

One of the newspaper group's most satisfying accomplishments was sidelining the construction of the controversial and costly extension of Route 53. Business and political interests criticized the Lakeland Newspaper opposition to 53, the only newspaper speaking out against the highway that would have been an environmental disaster and political boondoggle, leaving unsolved the gridlock and snarls on east-west highways. Today, both public and political opinion has shifted in favor of expanding and modernizing east-west arterial and feeder roadways.

In today's workaday world of two income families and women being an integral part of business and commerce, it's almost impossible to remember a time when "a woman's place" was in the home. Spotting a trend in the waning days of the 1950s for the new role of women, Lakeland Newspapers ran a series, "Women Who Work," that was denounced as "undercutting family values and glamorizing" women in the work place. Laughable today, perhaps, but at the time Lakeland editors and reporters were criticized—for being correct.

We're a bit biased, understandably, we hope, but it's been quite a ride for a publishing company that opened its doors a half century ago with three small papers, that grew to become a vigorous enterprise of 12 award winning weekly newspapers, a county-wide shopper newspaper, the Market Journal; the Great Lakes Bulletin serving the world's largest naval training station; an antique-collectors monthly, and various niche publications.

Because of their demonstrated success, the new owners will do well. Shaw Newspapers was most gracious in calling attention to the Schroeder family legacy and their desire to build on that foundation. We thank them and wish the Shaw team well as a new chapter unfolds for this newspaper and its sister publications.

Close torture school, save human rights

Recently, our family was honored to once again join tens of thousands of others devoted to peace and justice in traveling to the School of the Americas (SOA) protest at Fort Benning outside of Columbus, Georgia. We were in good company it seems, as people of all faiths, professions, and a diversity of backgrounds from Haitian refugees to Veterans for Peace to Catholic Workers were in attendance to say: "No mas, no more" to the SOA. Like my family, these people felt the United States can no longer conscionably subsidize this institution with taxpayers' money.

For those who aren't familiar with this institution, the SOA (also known as the Western Hemisphere Institute for Security Cooperation) is a military installation that trains soldiers from Latin America and the Caribbean here in the United States in counter-insurgency techniques. While sounding quite innocuous, in reality, counter-insurgency is a nice way of saying war against one's own people—indeed, graduates from the SOA have been found responsible of dozens of human rights abuses everywhere they go.

In 1996, SOA Watch, which works to abolish the school, discovered training manuals used by SOA that "advocated torture, extortion, blackmail and the targeting of civilian populations." The Washington Post broke the story (view at: http://www.soaw.org/new/newswire_detail.php?id=851) and while the Pentagon responded to the press by changing the pamphlets, in the light of Abu Gharib and Guantanamo, it begs the question if the changes were absolute and permanent.

My family was proud to stand present as part of the 19,000 in attendance at last Sunday's memorial service for those fallen and disappeared as a result of School of America-sponsored violence. This movement for justice and peace in South America is growing, and as advocates continue to lobby congress, we have the real potential to close this school of terrorism and torture! We're happy to report that local federal Rep. Melissa Bean is one of the 122 Representatives cosigning H.R. Bill 1217 The Latin America Military Training Review Act of 2005 to close the School of Americas, however if you live outside of this district, we urge you to please call or write your representative and ask him/her to support this bill. It is time we elevate this issue from the streets and farms of Latin America to the hearts and voices here at home!

Shimer should stay

Recently, students and alumni at Shimer College were surprised to discover that the school's board had begun a process that could ultimately lead to a relocation of Shimer's weekday program onto the Illinois Institute of Technology's campus in the South Side of Chicago.

Shimer has been a presence in Waukegan for more than twenty-five years, ever since the college relocated here from Mount Carol in western Illinois. At that time, the then-board of the school had voted to dissolve the college; however, a group of faculty and students were determined to keep the dream of a Great Books college alive, and they moved the school to Waukegan—not it must be said, without hardship.

However, it now appears that this period in Shimer's history is coming to a close. The board, without consulting the majority of the students—despite Shimer's long tradition of a democratic assembly wherein all major decisions are made—has entered into negotiations with IIT. These negotiations have been most characterized by the absurd degree of secrecy involved; when concerned alumni first heard rumors the school might be reducing or closing down its Waukegan operations, they were curtly instructed not to discuss the matter (ironic, at a school which prides itself on its discussion-based curriculum of open debate), as it might prejudice relations with the city of Waukegan, since the board was allegedly negotiating a deal to replace the North Avenue Dormitory, which, due to financial constraints, can no longer be retained. However, it now appears that no such discussions were ever under way, or if they were, they were not seriously pursued and the goal of remaining in Waukegan has been discarded. Instead, alumni and students have been subjected to what can only be considered "high-pressure sales tactics" on the part of the board, with special, closed-door meetings arranged for alumni, students, and faculty, wherein the board will present its case with only "the possibility of discussion". Additionally, the Shimer Assembly, which ordinarily would vote on whether or not to make a decision of such momentous importance, will only be allowed to discuss the proposed move, with the board making the final decision. This is practically unheard of in the school's history; it harkens back to the days of in loco parentis, and makes a mockery of Shimer's claim to teach students "not what to think, but how to think".

Some in the school's administration and amongst the student body feel that it is time for Shimer to leave Waukegan, that this city has not "done enough" for the school, and that Waukegan is somehow a hindrance to the school's growth. We know this is not the case. Waukegan and Shimer have mutually benefited from each other as they grow and mature. Shimer students support local businesses, amongst them the historic family-owned Cribb foods, as well as many others. Shimer alumni have settled in Waukegan; Shimer is among the top schools in America for students who go on to obtain higher degrees. Shimer students and alumni have been active in community projects, including Habitat for Humanity and the Public Library's mural. Waukegan, in turn, has provided the school with a relatively safe, multiethnic community to expand in. During its time in Waukegan, the school has grown from a single building into an entire campus; it could not have done this without the city's help.

Now, more than ever, Shimer and Waukegan need each other. Shimer's board has been unwilling to seriously approach the city, and without a viable alternative to IIT, the school will be have to move, willingly or not. The greatest strength of both the city of Waukegan and Shimer College is their communities; it will take action on both their parts to keep the school here. Contact Shimer at 847-623-8400, and make your feelings known, before it's too late.

County Board gives tax breaks for car dealers

Two old song themes came to mind when I watched the Lake County Board approve a sales tax incentive to Ford and Nissan auto dealerships to build on Grand Avenue just east of Route 45.

In another chorus of "Here we go again," or "Play it again, Sam," the board cut a "deal" to enrich the car dealers by $1.25 million over a 10-year period. What else is new?

I've written often enough of the fiscal insanity of tax incentives for corporations, often pitting one government against another, and filling the deep pockets of corporations, at the expense of taxpayers. When it comes to the Gurnee area, it appeared that the wild ride to provide tax giveaways was over, but the last caper by the county board may invite more of the same in the near future.

County Administrator Barry Burton said the county's sales tax incentive mirrored what Gurnee had done in the past. That's when car dealers in Waukegan were on a fast track to race to auto row in Gurnee, flush with tax breaks as enticements. As if they needed any. And County Board Member Angelo Kyle (D-Waukegan) chimed when he introduced the measure, "Gurnee is now being hypocritical, based on its past incentive policies."

In effect, they are right, but those decisions were made under former Mayor Dick Welton's tenure. Under Mayor Don Rudny, such tax incentives were not offered and it appears the present Mayor Kristina Kovarik opposes such giveaways. Two of the most recent dealerships located in Gurnee did so with no tax incentives. Now, Gurnee officials are taking another look at their policies with the threat of "opening up" if Lake County or other municipalities compete with tax incentive offers.

When the Lake County Board voted to approve the tax incentive agreement with Ford-Nissan, members of the board who voted for it clamored up and none of them explained why it was a good deal for taxpayers. From that, I gathered that they weren't taking chances of "eating their words."

The issue was approved on a 18-4 vote. I want to commend Sandy Cole (R-Grayslake), Ann Maine (R-Lincolnshire), Carol Spielman (D-Highland Park) and Robert Sabonjian (D-Waukegan), for their "no" votes. It was a common sense vote.

Steve Carlson (R-Gurnee) supported the plan. Some days later, though, he appeared at the Gurnee board meeting saying he regretted his vote. He said that he was not aware that neither Gurnee nor any other municipality had offered a competing tax incentive plan to the auto dealers. In effect, Carlson was saying that the car dealer would have located there if no tax break was offered at all. More precisely, the county board may have thumbed its nose at an extra $1.25 million in revenue.

Ann Maine cautioned the County Board that it was approving an agreement that "is a slippery slope that should be avoided." She said that if all governments would get out of the business of passing out tax incentive breaks to businesses, all of the taxpayers would benefit. Sandy Cole had even stronger words, saying "it's not economic development; it's corporate welfare. She also said that at a time when the county went to the voters to seek a sales tax increase for roads, to rebate $1.25 million back to car dealers cannot be justified. Sandy and Ann are "on point."

SALES TAX DISCLAIMER ... BUYER BEWARE

BUYER: WHEN YOU PURCHASED THIS VEHICLE, YOU MAY BE UNDER THE IMPRESSION THAT 100 PERCENT OF YOUR LOCAL SALES TAX WOULD GO TO LAKE COUNTY WHERE THE DEALERSHIP IS LOCATED. NO! BE AWARE THE LAKE COUNTY BOARD VOTED TO REBATE ONE-HALF OF THAT POSITION OF YOUR SALES TAX AND REBATE IT BACK TO THE DEALER-SELLER. IF YOU HAVE A PROBLEM WITH THE BOARD'S GENEROSITY OF GIVING THAT PART OF YOUR SALES TAX BACK TO THE DEALER, CONTACT YOUR COUNTY BOARD MEMBER.

I write this first of hopefully many columns from a unique local: Amman, Jordan.

As I sit here in an Internet café in Amman; a heavily Muslim country in the heart of the Middle East, a city that endured terrorist attacks three days ago, I pondered the thoughts of many of my friends, family and co-workers who said I'm out of my mind to want to travel to the Middle East.

Including this trip, my wife and I have been fortunate to be able to visit Jordan, Israel, Syria, Egypt and China among other locations over the past few years. Each time we go, we're asked the same question: "Why?"

Muslims hate Americans. Chinese hate Americans. Foreigners in general hate Americans. That's the common refrain. But from what we've experienced, we have seen virtually nothing to support that "fact."

Since we arrived here in Jordan some 14 hours ago, we have been met with nothing but smiles, nods and curious glances.

Our hotel manager, Faye, who is Palestinian (another group of people that are supposed to loathe us, right?), waited up until 3 a.m. to make sure he was on hand to personally greet us and to make sure our stay here in Jordan got off to a good start. On top of that, he invited us to have dinner with him later that night.

We feasted on mixed grill and hummus; wine and cigars (well, just Faye and I). We were so taken aback by his hospitality, we rearranged our itinerary later in the trip to go out of our way to go back to his hotel (Hotel Saraya) and buy him dinner.

Faye, of course, refused and bought again, for us and about 10 other tourists, each hailing from a different country, where we all spent the night talking about the misconceptions we all have about each other.

Now if you're thinking Faye bought dinner because we were in some swanky, Ritz-Carlton-esque establishment, our room charge per night was a whopping $25 US per night.

And it was money well-spent. We had tried for about a month to book a room at the Days Inn, but our e-mails weren't returned. Two months later, people died there after a suicide bomber drove his car up to the hotel and detonated his explosives.

But as Faye told us and our new friends for the evening, meeting new people and sharing experiences is what travel—and life—is all about.

Lesson learned

About 12 hours later, we were walking down from the city's ancient citadel through steep, winding streets on the way back to the hotel. We were walking through the heart of a community, no place for a tourist to be.

On the way down, virtually every person acknowledged us in some way. Twice, small groups of kids circled us as we walked and wanted us to know their names (and probably to impress us with their English). They didn't want money, they didn't want anything else but to interact. And by the way, their English was 1,000 times better than our Arabic.

I telling you this because these are the types of experiences with Muslim people we have, not the rampant anti-American hatred that TV media shows us each day.

Yes, there are terrorists in this world, and most are Muslim, but again, it's the old case of a few (OK, well not so few) bad apples spoiling it for the rest.

Where's the real problem?

Our country bullies itself around to the rest of the world, but it affects its desired changes through less-visible tactics. We're subtle, but the effects are as subtle as a rocket taking off in your backyard.

Because Muslim extremists often strike through terror tactics like bombings, they're easier to hate, and they should be hated.

I read one of those forwarded e-mails originally written by Maj. Gen. Vernon Chong, USAF (Ret.), called, "This War is for Real," written in October about the growing worldwide problems with Muslim people.

He said there should be measures taken to "have a clean, lawful, honorable war." That's really rich. As many children of the '60s would know, saying that is like saying "Killing for peace is like (having sex) for chastity."

War is hell, and its effects are devastating. While I wish it would end, I know that I can't do much to stop it.

What I can do, while I'm here, is purport myself to be different from the typical Americans that I'm sure they see from their media. And maybe one person who we've seen, might think some Americans ARE different, and may grow up with a different mindset.

We learn what we're taught, right? Maybe the teachers need to re-evaluate the lesson plan.

Well, we're off to dinner with the hotel manager and his family. Hope there aren't any bombs in our pita bread.

Government at fault

Kim Rogalin suggests drilling for oil in the Alaska Wilderness as the answer to our dependence on foreign oil. This is not the answer, as we were given the same song and dance when we first drilled for oil in Alaska. Not one drop of that oil ever came to the United States, it went directly to Japan. This after we, as taxpayers paid for the drilling. Breaking our dependence on not only foreign oil, but using cheaper and better substitutes to replace oil for our cars and trucks is the answer. That could be accomplished, in a very short time if our oil barons would allow the development of E-85 for cars and Bio fuel for Diesel engines. This could be done if the government would offer incentives to promote such substitute fuels and build the refineries to produce this type of energy.

It is time to put patriotism ahead of profits and once again make America the great nation it has always been until now. Can we expect this to happen, when Big Oil owns the top echelons of our government? Can we believe the statistics given as to the damage this drilling would cause, when it is given to us by the same people who put us into the war in Iraq?

Back door deal

I am deeply troubled with the path the Forest Preserve Commissioners are pursuing in not seeking voter approval in selling additional bonds.

After cleaning up the mess left by former Forest Preserve members with their condemnation tactics, the Depke-McRae team at the County created the environment for passing a series of bond referendums with voter approval to acquire and develop more Forest Preserve property.

Now the current Board wishes to extend $85 million in bonds in a two-phase plan. That is a tax increase without voter approval for years to come. Extending bonds and the taxes that should expire at the end of a bond term is a tax increase.

This is a backdoor referendum, a dishonest way of adding $85 million plus the interest to Lake County tax bills without voter approval.

Fort Sheridan trail ends 100-year wait for access to lake

A new trail and temporary parking area are now open at Fort Sheridan Forest Preserve providing the first official public access to this section of Lake Michigan shoreline in over 100 years.

The Lake County Forest Preserves recently completed work on the new 1.4-mile Lake Michigan Trail. The asphalt-paved trail provides public access to more than two miles of Lake Michigan shoreline for hiking, biking and cross-country skiing. Swimming and boating are not allowed on this section of Lake Michigan.

The trail runs from Old Elm Road at Sheridan Road through the Preserve to the Lake Michigan shore. It features an expansive trail bridge over an ecologically sensitive ravine and an educational loop around the Preserve's historic parade grounds. Work is underway on interpretive exhibits on the site's unique natural resources and rich military history. The exhibits are scheduled for installation in 2006.

The new trail and bridge are part of the Preserve's Master Plan, approved in 2003 by the Lake County Board of Commissioners to improve public access to Lake Michigan and preserve natural resources including restoring 65 acres of native prairies and plantings and stabilizing ecologically sensitive ravines.

The northern 259 acres of the former military base were transferred from the Army to the Lake County Forest Preserves after the base closed in 1993.

Fort Sheridan Forest Preserve is located in southeast Lake County in the communities of Highland Park, Highwood and Lake Forest.

The company, with headquarters in Dixon, has been in the newspaper business since being founded by the Shaw family 154 years ago. Shaw Newspapers is the third oldest continuously owned and managed newspaper company in the nation.

"This is a significant acquisition for our company," said Tom Shaw, president and CEO of Shaw Newspapers. "It makes perfect geographic sense for us, and we have been very successful with recent launches of weekly publications."

"With our growing Weekly Journals in DeKalb County and northern Kane County, we have learned that weekly papers can have a powerful impact in the community," Rung said. "The addition of Lakeland Media is a continuation of our strategy to offer readers and advertisers a variety of publication formats, frequency, and distribution methods."

Cynthia Schleich receives an award as Condell's Auxilian of the Year.

Schleich named Auxilian of the Year

At its annual luncheon in Mundelein, the Auxiliary of Condell Medical Center presented a $765,000 check to Condell Health Network president and CEO Eugene Pritchard and recognized Cynthia Schleich of Buffalo Grove as 2005 Auxilian of the Year.

The Auxilian of the Year award is presented each year in honor of former Condell Auxiliary president Vernice Brunstrum and her husband, Theodore Brunstrum, to a person who positively and enthusiastically promotes the Auxiliary, is helpful and generous with his or her time and/or talents, is actively involved with committee tasks and/or events, encourages and invites others to participate, and whose contributions have made a substantial difference toward fulfilling Condell Auxiliary's mission.

In her role as first vice president, Schleich is responsible for organizing fundraising sales that take place at the hospital. Auxilians nominated her for this year's award based on her enthusiasm as a positive supporter and promoter of Condell Health Network and for going above and beyond the duties of her position in putting together the fund-raisers. Schleich's efforts contributed to The Auxiliary's record-breaking fundraising during the past year.

The Condell Auxiliary raised $765,000 during the past year through its many fundraising efforts, breaking its own record as the largest amount of money raised in The Auxiliary's history. Fundraisers included the annual benefit gala, annual golf outing and hospital lobby sales of books, candies, jewelry and other items. Proceeds from Handle with Care estate sales, Condell's Gift Corner hospital gift shop and Blue Smock resale store in Libertyville are also part of the Auxiliary's fundraising pursuits.

TUITION

Anderson said the board conducted an in-depth analysis during the summer of the school's financial situation. A drop in state funding was the chief cause behind the board's decision to hike tuition and student fees, Anderson said.

With the extra money, CLC can continue to support the performing arts center, student activities, professional training programs and more, Anderson said.

"There's no other alternative at this time," he said. "(Raising costs) is something I despise, but it's something that has to be done. It's a last resort."

CHIEF

If no decision is reached Dec. 6, the board will meet to deliberate again, Griffin said. A possible second meeting time is not known yet, he said.

The new president will replace Gretchen Naff, who served as CLC president for nearly 30 years, Griffin said. Naff retired in June 2004.

Naff expanded the CLC campus and its resources, Griffin said.

"We need a person who can help us get to the next level," he said. "We want someone who can balance the need of the community with limited financial resources."

Lake County Chamber of Commerce to mark 90th anniversary

The Lake County Chamber of Commerce will celebrate its 90th anniversary of continuous service to Lake County businesses on Dec. 1, at a reception at Midlane Golf Resort in Wadsworth.

The Lake County Chamber is the oldest chamber of commerce in Lake County in terms of providing continuous services to its members. The Lake County Chamber was established as an all volunteer organization, the Waukegan Commercial Association, in 1915.

In 1917, the original organization changed its name to the Waukegan Chamber of Commerce. As the organization grew and expanded over the years, the chamber underwent additional name changes to reflect its membership.

Today, the Lake County Chamber of Commerce has grown to over 400 members and is the parent organization to three affiliate Chambers: the Gurnee, Hispanic, and Waukegan Chambers of Commerce.

The celebration will feature historical data, photographs and newspaper clippings from the Chamber's archives as well as the presentation of resolutions from area dignitaries and officials.

For more information about the celebration call the Lake County Chamber of Commerce at 847-249-3800.

PARENT'S PLACE

Dr. Sherri Singer

Hi Dr. Singer,

Our son has always been a slow reader. We have tried all kinds of tutoring for reading and phonics and it never seems to get any faster. Of course, this slowness effects his comprehension in a very bad way and he is in Jr. High now so that skill is very important. He is getting horribly frustrated and is slowly dying on a vine with this and I wonder if the focus we have placed on tutoring phonics may not be targeted right. I have read your column for a long time and I'm wondering if maybe the problem is at a deeper level and needs different kind of help. Any tidbits of wisdom would be greatly appreciated. S.U.

Hi S.U.,

As always, I have to say the obligatory I don't know your son personally and without an evaluation, I cannot say specifically what is happening with his skills or how to help him. I will tell you what I have seen with other people and then you should decide if you want to come meet me personally and get to the bottom of it.

With that said, I can tell you that you are not alone. I have seen gads of kids who have been through the phonics thing again and again and again with no real forward movement on skills. I have been able to bring them forward and make those skills better but the secret is I don't work with phonics. Now, don't get me wrong. Phonics are very important and many kids don't get trained in those basics. What I find more often is the kid whose eyes are not moving methodically across the page. There is no flow to the movement their eyes are doing when they're reading. The actual mechanical movement of the eye is choppy, so the reading is choppy and they never get to a comprehension level.

What I do to correct this is specific exercises designed to make that movement more automatic and more flowing so that the choppiness disappears. Once it becomes more automatic and more flowing, the child isn't working so hard on the mechanical part so the comprehension can flow more easily. Kids who have this problem tend to end up hating reading. If you start early enough (even at 5 or 6 years old) on this eye movement issue, the child will have a much smoother experience with learning to read and will have a much stronger chance of loving reading and being good at it. Don't think it's too late if your child is older. I have successfully corrected this with many older kids too. It's just better to start as early as you can so they don't spend lots of time struggling.

Another thing that I find happens to these kids who have reading and comprehension problems is the lack of ability while reading to go from the end of one line to the beginning of the next one smoothly and without losing their place. This is another part of my training that I find to be very helpful to kids. Getting them to be able to read from one line to the next one without losing their place dramatically improves their comprehension of what they're reading. It just makes sense that if they are accidentally jumping to the same line again or skipping to the next line, their comprehension will suffer and they will get frustrated and won't want to stick with it. Some kids will continue to go back and re-read the lines again, but it's safe to say that this type of process does not make for a love of reading. I love watching kids get over that because when you open that door, many other doors open for the child too.

Now, even if the mechanical movement of the eyes is what is the cause of the problem for any child, it will still be important once the movement issue is corrected to review the phonics part too. Just to make sure that all the gaps are filled in.

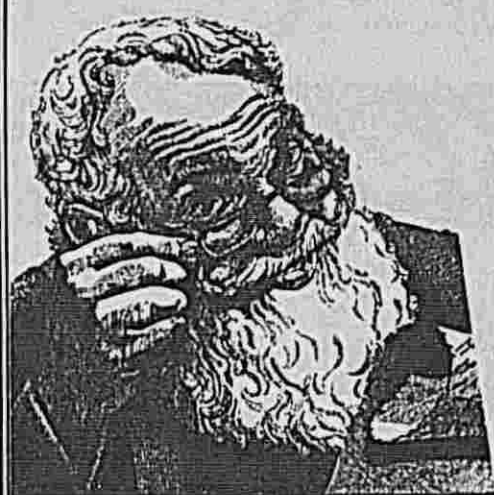

Once again, I cannot guarantee that this is what exactly is happening with your son. It sounds like it is because I have seen so many other kids having this same problem. The clue is that when you are exposing them to so much phonics work and it isn't having any effect, usually it is time to work in a different area. Usually in my column, I try to tell people things to try on their own. This one is tough because without specialized exercises done enough, this problem doesn't usually correct itself with home remedies. Call again if you do want to investigate whether your child has this happening to him. I'd be glad to help you investigate it.

Dr. Sherri Singer is a Licensed Clinical Psychologist and Childhood Behavior Specialist. She regularly works in person with many readers of this column, helping them to significantly improve their kid's attention, behavior and processing skills. ALOOKBACK

Lake County history from the Lakeland Archives

Lakeland Archives

30 YEARS AGO • 1975

The final decision on Marriott's request for building permits for structures within a proposed picnic area in Gurnee looked to be headed for court.

The Oakwood Subdivision residents took matters into their hands a little further by engaging an attorney, George Weaver of Chicago. At a meeting the residents presented Gurnee trustees with a statement advising them that if the village allowed Marriott to construct the picnic area, they would be forced to bring suit against the village.

20 YEARS AGO • 1985

Avon Township Highway Commissioner Pat Anderson announced that he would be a candidate for the District 4 representative on the Lake County Board in the March

Jill Cates dons a jaunty Santa Claus cap as she and fellow postal worker Larry Dullinger dig into mountains of Christmas mail being processed by the post office which observed Postal Card Week, Dec. 3-8, 1990, to call attention to early mailing. Include ZIP code (nine-digit if possible) with correct name and address to insure on-time delivery of holiday cards and packages.

1986 election.

Anderson, who had just been elected to the Avon Township Highway Commissioner post in March of 1985, shocked Avon Township Supervisor Norm Geary by announcing his candidacy.

The highway commissioner was supposed to be Geary's re-election campaign chairman for the '86 vote. But Anderson said he felt he had the necessary qualifications to run himself.

15 YEARS AGO • 1990

Third Lake board members agreed, after much discussion, to pay the $5,000 necessary to join the Solid Waste Agency of Lake County (SWALCO).

Board members discussed the matter in detail for some time before deciding to pay the initial fee to join the agency. One of the issues discussed was the lack of information about how the obligation would be divided among the member municipalities once SWALCO began operations.

Gymnastic greatness

Young Eagles program hopes to add to Lake County tradition

By Daniel J. Patrick

If ever there's an area in Illinois to enjoy girls gymnastics, Lake County residents need not look any further than out the window. With programs such as Carmel, Warren, Libertyville, Mundelein and nearby Stevenson constantly in the sectional and even state title picture, fans from any other part of the state would be jealous.

Now it's time to make room for one more as the Lakes Eagles try to follow in their forebears' footsteps and break into the area's tradition of gymnastic excellence. Thus far, it's been a difficult road for the team, but you'd never know it when you talk with the coach.

"Things are going really well, I would say the participation has been really good especially for such a small school," Lakes coach Tiffany Magliola said. "We've only got 14 kids total, but for a first year team, that's not so bad."

Not so bad for a rookie season, but as Libertyville's veteran coach Curt Austin knows, it's tough to break into that upper tier. His Wildcats have been consistently placing high in the state quarterfinals, but just have not been able to match the success that schools like Warren and Carmel have enjoyed.

"We always want to win state, that would be nice," Austin said. "We've got a really good team this year with girls like Lyla Browning, Jessica Wojcichowski, Casie Herman and Shawna Connors, but placing

Even when the game's over, the friends last forever

I just went to a five-year class reunion last weekend back in the good old Hoosier state. Yet for me, it was more like a seven-year because of my relatively unorthodox path through high school. I attended a normal district-based public school before transferring to the Indiana Academy for Science, Mathematics and the Humanities (similar in concept to the Illinois Math and Science Academy, but the Indiana school is only for juniors and seniors as opposed to all four years).

Despite the transfer, I still stayed in touch with many of those friends, so I attended the reunion. It was right out of a sitcom, many of the cliques reformed immediately and many of the so-called popular, yet vicious, kids got their just desserts as old mother metabolism broke down like a rusted old car.

Yet one thing remained constant: Those of us who "Left it out on the field," "Gave 110-percent" and "Took it one game at a time" remained the best of friends despite the years and (sometimes) hundreds of miles that had torn us apart.

I hadn't played with these guys since I was 16, hadn't even seen most of them since I was 18 or 19, yet the friendship was still there. Sure, the conversations have changed from individual statistics and war stories on the field to occupations and families, yet the bond we had built by simply working and sweating just for a cheap cloth letter on a jacket was unhurt by years of neglect and the discovery of entirely new lives from simply growing up.

In a particularly weird moment, I simply got in the food line only to realize that I had just completed the entire freshman defensive line with my former classmates. Imagine that, former linemen waiting to get food, I suppose it wasn't so weird after all.

It's a strange thing to look back at some of the tired old cliché statements that flowed out of every single coach/parent's mouth actually had some substance—only you're never mature

BOYS BASKETBALL

WARREN 63, WAUKEGAN 57

Warren (3-0) returned the favor to Waukegan (2-1) for knocking them out of the state tournament last season with a tough 63-57 victory Saturday night.

Warren was paced by familiar names from the football field. Marcus Lewis's sharp-shooting led to 18 points in the game while Ceola Clark ended the game with a double-double, scoring 10 points and hauling in 15 boards in the game. Marvin Bemby also finished the game with 12 and Cesar Moore rounded out the double-digit scorers with 11.

Bulldog Ben Vega showed his skills, ending the game with 22 points while Ricky Miller finished with 14 and Dana Sibert with 11.

MUNDELEIN 74, ROUND LAKE 58

Mundelein finally captured its first win in four tries after beating the Round Lake Panthers 74-58 Monday night. The Mustangs were in control throughout the contest, widening their six-point first quarter lead in every stanza. Mundelein's biggest run came in the third quarter, scoring 20 to Round Lake's 14.

Transfer Raffi Mantilla again paced the Mustangs with 16 points, hitting three shots from behind the arc. Mantilla wasn't alone as Chris Millner scored 15 along with 14 apiece from Ian Sanchez and Adam Ketzner. On the Panther end, Jeremy Shedrick paced his team with 19 points and 13 boards. Senior John Paulsen was the only other Round Lake player to hit double-digits with 12 while Cesar Moore and Jerome Brown added eight apiece.

JOHNSBURG 57, GRANT 32

Grant High boys basketball coach Phil Ralston saw some good things to build on following a 1-2 record at the Johnsburg Thanksgiving tourney.

Although a 57-32 loss to champion Johnsburg gave the Grant-faithful a feeling in their stomachs like too much turkey, the Bulldogs did have a win over Marian Central (0-3) and a close down-to-the wire battle with Wauconda (2-1).

Grant Senior Matt Behm earned all-tournament honors. Behm tallied 13 points to lead Grant against Johnsburg, despite some heavy defense around him.

"It was a buzz saw. We played against a team that has most of its components back from a 20-win team and we're a young team," Ralston said.

WAUCONDA 42, MARIAN CENTRAL 40

An experienced Wauconda boys basketball team started the season on a 2-1 record with two close, low-scoring wins at the Johnsburg Thanksgiving tournament.

Senior Tim Schwarz, the hero of the game before with a last-second steal, and Kris Gerhke executed a play perfectly to lead to a winning basket and a 42-40 win over Marian Central. With Schwarz's pass, all Gerhke had to do was put the basketball off the glass and he did so. Gerhke led the way for the Bulldogs with 15 points against Marian Central.

Wauconda trailed 31-24 early in the fourth quarter, but the Bulldogs regained the lead at 33-32 on a fast-break lay-up by Gerhke. After a back-and-forth fourth stanza, Wauconda finally came out on top, taking the game by a basket.

CARMEL 74, MUNDELEIN 73

The Carmel Corsairs (2-1) narrowly defeated cross-town rival Mundelein Mustangs in a hotly-contested one-point victory that saw comeback after comeback Saturday night. The Mustangs certainly started off on the right foot, as they had an eight-point lead at the half. Fortunately for the visiting Corsairs, that lead evaporated on the back of a 17-point reversal as Carmel had a nine point lead with only two minutes left in the game.

The Mustangs weren't done as they were able to claw back into the contest, taking a 73-72 lead on a three pointer from Adma Ketzner late in the fourth. Ketzner knew exactly when to turn it on as he only finished the game with five total points. Carmel's Pat Rogers was able to answer Ketzner's shot, hitting a jumper with 1.3 seconds left to seal the deal.

well in this area is extremely tough. We're just trying to get things rolling."

As for the Warren Blue Devils and Carmel Corsairs themselves, they have been fighting each other for state supremacy for years. Last year was no exception, with Carmel taking third in the IHSA state final and Warren taking fourth with a .975-point margin between the teams. They even had a dogfight in the Mundelein sectional, finishing 1-2 with Carmel again coming out on top.

This year will probably be more of the same with the Blue Devils returning junior Lindsey Jindra and sophomore Kacie Holop. Carmel's fully restocked with seniors Caylee McGrath and Laura Valkman, junior Sam Sokup and sophomore MaryAnn Oehlerking all back for action.

Don't forget about the Mundelein Mustangs as the team placed second, only to Warren. While consummate Mustang performer Jennifer Wallace may be gone, it's a safe bet that no gymnastics fans will be disappointed with Mundelein's team this year.

Of course, that brings us back to the Lakes team. Despite the small numbers, their main acquisition is former Antioch sophomore Cody Ksioszk. As a freshman for the Sequoits, she advanced to the sectionals in the uneven parallel bars, floor exercise and all-around competitions.

"Definitely Cody Ksioszk is going to be a strong contender in the conference this year," Magliola said. "Nicki Mede will also be strong, they (Mede and Ksioszk) are returning varsity members from Antioch from last year and they're both sophomores, so one of the good things is that they're young."

Austin said the area is filled with talent up and down any team's schedule. Lake County is so strong in the gymnastics arena, that he likened the normal regular season schedule to a regional tournament every week.

"This area has so many talented teams that it's really hard to pick out who's going to be some of the toughest competitors," Austin said. "You've always got Carmel, Warren, Mundelein, Stevenson, Antioch, so when we meet up with them, it's always a good test for the state finals later in the season."

With so much mutual respect floating around all of the gymnastics teams in the area, it's almost as if the IHSA state finals should be renamed the IHSA "Lake County" finals.

enough to realize it at the time.

Two-and-4 is rarely a record to rally around, yet that's exactly what the CLC Lancer women's basketball team should do after eclipsing 2004-2005's win total in only six tries. The Lancers defeated Joliet by the score of 67-61 to capture their second win – and third win in more than a year of action. Former Antioch center Jenny DeWar led the way with 28 points and 17 boards while former Round Lake Panther Jaime Schaufel chipped in 12 and 7 of her own.

After a season of out-and-out hell brought on by alleged internal struggles, it's nice to see them finally get that second win(d). Good luck to the Lancers, it's good to see them get that unbelievably massive monkey off of their collective backs.

When the NFL season began, I watched with disgust as the Bears sputtered to a 1-3 start and Rex "Pain Pill" Grossman went down in yet another preseason train wreck and Cedric "Show Me the Money!" Benson has shown why mega-million dollar contracts should not be given to unproven rookies.

So, I took refuge in White Sox greatness and I went to Warren Blue Devil and Libertyville Wildcat varsity games to appease my football desires. When both teams had their seasons ended in the second round, I was left without a gridiron home, that is, until the Bears' defense came to town.

With talk of a possible Super Bowl appearance now surrounding the once-pitiful team, I'm having the sugar plums of yet another Chicago championship dance in my head – that, and yet another reason to make fun of Cub fans. Just kidding!

Kennedy keeps Grant wrestling tradition alive with big win

Bulldog grapplers finish fourth in Barrington tournament after wins over Antioch, Libertyville

By Steve Peterson
Sports Reporter

It was four years ago when a Bulldog freshman named Jim Kennedy took the Barrington wrestling tournament by storm, winning the championship at 103 pounds. Now headed for the University of Illinois, the senior made it four straight championships, this time at 130 pounds, to pace Grant's squad. Grant finished fourth in the two-day Barrington event.

Kennedy, who is riding high after signing his letter of intent with the Fighting Illini just last week, was 4-0 en route to the Barrington tournament title, but that's hardly where the success began for the senior grappler. He is coming off a third place finish in the state tourney last year and seems to be hungry to follow the performance up with another state appearance this season. Thus far, he is on pace to make another appearance as he stands at 6-0 overall with the Barrington wins in addition to defeated foes from Libertyville and Antioch. With the impressive start, Kennedy is now 88-1, with the only loss coming in the state semi-finals last season.

"It (the Barrington title win) was special for Jim, because this is his senior year and he wants to stay pretty focused," Grant coach Ryan Geist said.

The Bulldogs have made a job out of dominating in the lower weight classes in the last few seasons, and this year certainly does not break with that trend. Grant's strengths in the 103 and 119 to 130 were showcased at the Barrington meet with wrestlers finishing well in all of those weight classes. According to Geist, with a fourth place overall finish, it shows the Bulldogs can do better.

Kennedy has been a standard of excellence amongst the Grant ranks, but he's certainly not the only one performing well. John Deneen took second at 125 and almost took top honors after losing a close 1-0 battle in the final. Dan Dilligio also finished in second place at 103. Izzy Montemoyer also had a podium finish by taking third amongst the 119-pounders.

Hoping to follow in his smaller teammates' lead, some of the higher weight classes' grapplers also turned in some fine performances. Matt Simon, a newcomer on the Grant wrestling team, took second in the 189-pound weight class.

Overall, the strong Barrington finish was just icing on the cake as the undefeated Bulldogs have been impressive against both the Libertyville Wildcats and the Antioch Sequoits thus far. In the intense season-opener against Libertyville, Grant was ahead by a mere four points, before wins by Joel Montemoyer at 145 and Lucky Ferguson at 140 put the Bulldogs over the top to win the meet by 16 points.

At press time, Grant (2-0, 1-0 NSC Prairie) will be facing Vernon Hills for the next Bulldog meet. After the Cougar contest, Grant will be battling Stevenson in a North Suburban Conference crossover match on Dec. 3. Grant will then return to the Prairie as the Bulldogs host Wauconda in a meet scheduled for Dec. 9.

Libertyville wrestling team off to 3-1 start after sectional championship season

After 19 seasons at the helm of the Wildcat wrestling program, coach Dale Eggert has developed a pretty good sense of what makes a good team and what makes up a great team. After a 20-2 campaign last season, highlighted by a North Suburban Lake championship and a sectional championship, there's no doubt that 2004-05 was a great year.

In the early stages of this season, Eggert's seasoned eyes are watching what he believes to be a "good" team, but what could also be a "great" team in the making.

"We take the season week to week, but I think we're doing pretty well," Eggert said. "I think they're right where they should be this early in the season. I'm very pleased with their work ethic and hopefully we'll be able to challenge for the conference title again this season."

The Wildcats are off to an impressive 3-1 start, thanks to big wins over Antioch (49-0), Waukegan (49-18) and Mahomet-Seymour (40-15), but were unable to topple the powerful Grant Bulldogs. Eggert said the start is very indicative of where the Libertyville squad is in the Lake County wrestling scene — able to compete with the best, but aren't quite as good as last year because of team's youth.

"We had to have a really good team to beat Grant because they are good up and down the weight classes," Eggert said. "We have some inexperienced wrestlers, we're not as solid as Grant. We don't have much depth, but we do have some good individual wrestlers who are able to make up for any holes that we might have."

Holes aside, there are numerous talented wrestlers on the Wildcat roster. Ted Strychalski (130), Vinnie Sapienza (171), Ryan Manning (189) and Jack Danilkowicz are all undefeated at this point in the season. Eggert is also expecting big things from Jon Henslee (135), Trey Ayala (125), Peter Mazzetta (119), Joey Callen (140) and Trevor Hall (140).

Callen and Hall are exactly what the coach is talking about when he speaks of shoring up holes with talent. The 140-pound duo usually compete at the 135-pound level, but Eggert felt his team needed two solid wrestlers at the higher weight class. Thus far, the coach is pleased with what he's seen from his patch job.

"I think they (Callen and Hall) are both doing well because they are wrestling in a different class than I would normally have them in," Eggert said. "That allows them to move a bit faster than a lot of the guys they wrestle and they can get the upper hand in some of the matches."

After almost two decades of coaching, it takes a lot to get a veteran like Eggert truly excited. Unlike some of the younger coaches in the area, optimism doesn't flow so easily, yet

Eggert retains an air of hope when looking forward into the Wildcats' immediate future.

"We'll do the best that we can, but they only have so far to come over the course of a single season," Eggert said. "I think our team will be really solid, but I don't think we have the same caliber of a team that we did last year. We'll try to improve and by the end of the season, hopefully, we'll have a great season in the Lake division."

Coach pleased with new Eagle wrestling program despite low turnout

By Daniel J. Patrick
Sports Editor

Participation is everything within all levels of youth sports, from the youngest children in the Pee Wee ranks to the college recruits battling it out on the varsity fields.

Unfortunately for Lakes High wrestling coach Curt Onstead, participation hasn't exactly been on his side with only 25 total wrestlers at all levels of the program and nine currently wrestling on varsity.

Despite the troubles, Onstead is certain he can truly make something out of nothing due to both a personal devotion and a small but dedicated crop of students united in the creation of a new wrestling team.

"We need to show everyone that we have a program that has a real team concept where we win together, lose together and get better together," Onstead said. "Just because it's a new program doesn't mean that this isn't a team that's going to give their all."

The will may be there, but at this point, the numbers aren't. Onstead surmised that the reason for the relatively light roster is a feeling of indifference amongst potential wrestlers within the school.

"I actually expected to have a few more kids, I just haven't had them come out for us yet," Onstead said. "We had some lower numbers just because some kids are not willing to come out even though they've wrestled before with Antioch or in elementary or middle school. I think they're just in a wait-and-see sort of mentality in the first year. Hopefully, by this time next year, we'll have a much bigger team."

That's not to say that the team that has come out for Onstead is hopeless. On the contrary, the nine-person Lakes varsity squad has a trio of battle-tested wrestlers who could surprise opponents in the weeks to come.

Heavyweight Tyler Hall, 189-pounder Ben Rehm and freshman 112-pounder Matt Holmes are collectively carrying the hopes of a coach on their backs. With some work, the three will have no trouble "carrying" themselves deep into the IHSA tournament at the end of the season.

Hall, Rehm and Holmes aren't alone as Nick Metzel and Nick Valentine both went 2-2 against competition with greater experience at the recent Barrington tournament. The tournament could prove to be a precursor to the Barrington sectional as many of the same teams will be making appearances at the playoff.

"I am happy with where we are right now," Onstead said. "When we went to the Barrington tourney, we did better than I anticipated and there's a lot to be said when we do well in a 32-team tournament...I was pleasantly surprised, it is still early on in the season, we can base the fact that we can see them again in the Barrington sectional. It's a good eye-opener to see what kind of competition is out there for us."

Despite losing the first meet against the Round Lake Panthers 43-24, Onstead is pleased with the overall progress of the team. The current participation troubles really aren't worrying Onstead either, as a great majority of wrestling teams take what they can get from the student body.

"I've never been to a team where they have tryouts where they turn away potential wrestlers," Onstead said. "Wrestling in general doesn't have a great turnout ratio. If someone does come in in early January, we would have them come in...and start working out with us as quickly as possible."

Optimism is running high for Onstead even with the responsibility he has in creating a new team. If anything, he's excited to have the chance to make his own mark in the history of the school.

"The main thing I want to get across is that I'm happy with the team and I'm happy with the individuals on the team," Onstead said. "What I'm disappointed with is the numbers. But, it's a first year program, and the only way we can go from here is up."

Crowds or not, Panther grapplers thrive on the mats

By Daniel J. Patrick
Sports Editor

In a school where winning records are an unexpected treat and a sport where you're lucky to see a single student in the stands, Round Lake veteran wrestling coach John Jobst and his Panthers are demanding respect from their school - whether they get it or not.

"We don't draw the crowds that a basketball or a volleyball team, but the kids know who works the hardest," Jobst said. "Everyone in the school knows who puts in the most time and that's enough for them. They have everyone's respect and they know it."

Over the course of the summer months, Jobst estimates that veteran wrestlers turn in as many as 700 to 800 matches in preparation for the winter season. The Panthers also attend numerous prep wrestling camps all over the state in order to hone their skills for the squared circle.

"We wrestle all the time in the off-season and a lot of our guys are in the weight room every day at 6 a.m. to lift," Jobst said. "We have a motto that says 'Only good things come from hard work' and that's something all of our wrestlers follow."

The Panthers recently competed in a 32-team field, taking the 13th spot in the tourney. Finishing at no. 13 may not sound that impressive, but when Jobst's strategy is taken into consideration, unlucky 13 turns into a whole new number.

"We only took nine guys (for 14 weight classes) because I only wanted to compete with the guys who were ready for it," Jobst said. "I didn't take the entire team because some of them had family here for the holidays and some of the kids just weren't ready for it. I didn't want some of the younger guys to wrestle, get hurt and lose their confidence."

Some of the most experienced wrestlers on the Panther team include four returnees who qualified for sectionals last season, Josh Terrell (160), Dillon Pousson (112), Derrick Pousson (119) and Ryan Barnard (145). Terrell is the most decorated Panther, taking home the conference championship and was also a state qualifier a year ago.

The Pousson brothers are also building a family dynasty as the elder (Derrick) is a junior while Dillon is only a sophomore. Jobst said the duo have been working for wrestling glory since they were young children and they certainly haven't shown any signs of giving up on that goal just yet.

"They've been wrestling since they were five, but they've put the time in to hone their skills too," Jobst said. "They're in there lifting weights everyday at 6:00 a.m. and they set a good example of how to work for the rest of the guys on the team."

Because of the talent level of the team,

Round Lake's Derrick Pousson takes down Lakes Community High School's Aaron Cashmore in the 125-pound weight class of a dual match at Round Lake High School.

Jobst has his sights aimed high for the Panthers. Amongst the milestones are a top-four finish in the NSC-Prairie and a larger number of sectional qualifiers than last year's roster of four.

"We try to set our goals high and I think this is the year where we can really do some good things," Jobst said. "We want to finish at the top of the conference and we want to send as many as we can down to state. With the talent we've got, we should be able to send quite a few."

In addition to the "Only good things come from hard work" motto, Jobst has another saying that he wants his wrestlers to keep fresh in their minds: "Outwork your opponents." It's not hard to see a common theme developing within Jobst's teachings, yet with the standard of excellence he has built in a school not known for sports powerhouses, no one can argue with the results.

GIRLS BASKETBALL

Mundelein searches for senior leadership

By Daniel J. Patrick

Sports Editor

Sarah Miller, Ashley Cretacci and Caroline Laird – three names that have appeared in nearly every newspaper article about the Mustang girls basketball team for the last few years. Unfortunately for Mundelein coach Brian Evans and his team, the trio of players that brought them a 22-9 record are now tearing up the hardwood in college.

"It's one thing to lose a good group of seniors, but it's an entire different thing when you lose players of that caliber," Evans said. "We graduated more than 45 points per game of offense and we have one girl (Miller) who's doing pretty well in D-1 basketball. That's one group of players that will be tough to replace."

If anyone's in any need of an update, Miller is indeed doing pretty well for herself for Western Illinois, sitting at third in scoring (7.0 points), second in rebounding (5.3) despite coming off the bench in a support role. Cretacci isn't doing so badly herself at Lake Forest College, averaging 4.4 points and 3.8 boards a game while Laird has appeared in two of Illinois College's three games.

Former Mustang stars aside, hope still remains for the veteran coach and with a lot of work and a little luck, Mundelein will be able to create all new memories this season. But in order to accomplish any goals, Evans believes his team needs a floor general – a role that was left vacant with the trio's graduation last year.

"Right now, we need leaders and we don't have that and that's something we've enjoyed for the last few seasons," Evans said. "We don't have that Caroline Laird who would take control of a game, walk out on the floor and say to the rest of the girls, 'OK, this is what we need to do.'"

The Mustangs' best bet is senior Shara Swager, a point guard who is no stranger to the varsity ranks, as she has lettered every year of her high school career. Thus far, Swager has done a very good job, leading Mundelein to a good 4-1 start to begin the season.

"Shara would be the most fit to be that leader that we need because she's played for so long on the varsity team," Evans said. "However, she only played underneath those kids, so her leadership experience would be a bit limited because of that. But because of that experience, she's a natural pick for that floor general, we just need her to step up."

Despite the impressive start, Mundelein has had a brush with failure as well – a big brush at that – as the Mustangs were beaten 57-37 by the Johnsbury Skyhawks. Believe it or not, Evans was actually pleased with his team's play during the lambasting.

Mundelein senior guard Shara Swager drives toward the basket during the Mustangs' 44-26 home game win over Wauconda.

"By far, our toughest test was against Johnsbury and they beat us by 20, but we were only down by seven at the end of the third," Evans said. "Johnsbury's a good, physical team and even though we were beaten badly, that was the best basketball I've seen our team play in the entire season."

It must be a mad world when a team that loses three stars begins out the next season 3-0 and a coach treasures a 20-point lambasting, but Mundelein fans should get used to the idea. Only this year, trade the names Miller, Cretacci and Laird with Swager and maybe even Kristin Hecht.

Talent no question for youthful Bulldog team

By Daniel J. Patrick

Sports Editor

There are riddles everywhere for the Wauconda Bulldogs this season. There's questions of how the team will recover from losing key players Ali Dorsey, Kristen Kraus and Krista Llewellyn and perhaps the most important question is if the team will be able to turn it around after a 4-21 season last year.

Looking at the roster, that answer could be a resounding yes. Bulldog coach Tim Bartusch even had a few good answers for a sports reporter before the Mundelein game last Tuesday. What the team has in droves is youth and drive, what may be lacking is experience.

"We're a very young team, we've only got two seniors, but I think we've also got a lot of talent," Bartusch said. "We've been working on improving our game and everything from our rebounding to shot percentage has been steadily going up. We're moving in the right direction."

One easy puzzle for Wauconda fans to solve is who will be leading the team this season. Jessie Middlesworth has been a steady performer for the Bulldogs over the years and she is continuing to guide the team in the captain role this season. Sophomore Katie LePage has also contributed quite a bit to the young team.

Youth has indeed been the biggest enigma for Bartusch and his team to solve, yet the team has been working hard to solve the problem. However, the youth that is detrimental to the team in '05-'06 can only help in the years to come.

"This is the first time I've ever had a team that is so young, so I'm really in some uncharted waters," Bartusch said. "But I have not been disappointed with the level of play our girls have shown at this point in the season. They have been giving their all and with some work, they'll mature over the course of the season."

There's another question out there for Bulldog fans as well: Who's young, 6-foot-1 and full of potential? That's right, it's Wauconda freshman center Lauren Mead. As much as coaches are reluctant to give the younger athletes the spotlight, the tall youngster is begging to be noticed.

"She does everything we need her to do and she's done really well for us this year," Bartusch said. "She shoots, rebounds and handles the ball well. She's pretty good and it's great to know that she'll be around for us for the next few seasons."

What's no riddle is the old saying that "You can't coach height." In Mead's case, it seems that Bartusch won't have to be coaching many other things either as she's already mastered many of the skills that can often elude players of her age.

The only question that remains is how many wins the Wauconda Bulldogs will get this season. Of course, only time will solve that riddle and Bartusch hopes the answer will be a good one for the Wauconda faithful.

"This is a good team with good players," Bartusch said. "They'll play hard every time, regardless of the score or who we're playing. We're moving along and improving every day. Hopefully we'll be able to tie it all together and be able to win some games."

Respectable .500 record exorcises bad memories from last year's 0-8 start

By Daniel J. Patrick

Sports Editor

Antioch basketball has been on a roller coaster for the last two seasons. For most programs, a rebuilding year means taking a few bumps, but for the Sequoits last season, it was ridiculous.

Coach Tom Duffy began the '04-'05 season on the wrong end of an eight game streak and sputtered to an 8-19 record and a 2-8 mark in the North Suburban Conference Lake Division. Currently standing at 2-2 with one of the losses coming from a last second desperation shot against Highland Park, Duffy is hopeful he can turn last year's difficulty into a distant memory.

"Last year, I only had one kid that had any serious minutes, so it was tough. I don't ever want to do that again," Duffy said about the difficult start last season. "We knew it was going to be tough, so I told all of the juniors, now seniors, that we're building for next year. Now it's that year and it's going well. I've also told the junior varsity coach to keep a conscious effort to get some of the juniors some quality playing time, so next year's not like last year all over again."

The Sequoits have been able to get off to the respectable start thanks to an aggressive offensive scheme, good defense and a strong team set between the six seniors on the team. Coming into the season, guards Chandler Kent and Alex McKenzie were expected to be the torchbearers of the team. Thus far, the duo has thrived thanks to their mutually aggressive style.

"McKenzie and Kent have both been excellent for me; they've both been the two top scorers for me in every game," Duffy said. "In the Lake Forest game, Kent made 14 free throws in 21 tries because they (Lake Forest) kept coming at him when he was taking the ball up the court."

The duo, aided by fellow seniors Bob Dzike, Jon Fusco, John Heneberry, Mike Ruggles and Mike Donovan, have provided Duffy with the stable base he needed for success.

"I think we're doing good, we've been attacking the basket and with so many seniors, they all know how to play with each other well," Duffy said. "Last year, they were just trying to get in synch with each other. It's a bunch of veterans that like each other and want to play well for each other, so that has been extremely helpful for us this year."

Defense typically goes hand-in-hand with such a unified style of play and Antioch's "D" has been stellar in the early portion of the season.

Chandler Kent of Antioch goes up for a lay-up while Phillip Stoecker of Grayslake watches.

"When we played Highland Park, we held them to only two points in one quarter," Duffy said. "I don't know when the last time we did that was, but we certainly never did that last year. Our defense has improved so much because I've got so many guys who work well together."

Usually, it's the coach who takes both the credit and the fall for the peaks and valleys of a high school varsity program. As for the team's hard-nosed playing style, Duffy not only breaks with tradition, he willingly admits that his players' scheme was all their own.

"I don't know how it came about, I'd like to take the credit, but I can't," Duffy said. "I think it could really help us by getting some opponents into foul trouble and it could really help in the Prairie because those teams aren't as deep. Wherever it came from, it's been so far, so good."

All pain, all gain

Grayslake Central big man Mike Morgan thrives on sacrificing glory for the common goal

Daniel J. Patrick

Sports Editor

If there's ever a routine drill that's absolute torture for a varsity basketball player, it's anything that involves diving on the floor. With the average height of hoopsters steadily growing, it can be a long way down for the big men underneath. But, when the game's on the line, you've got to do what you've got to do.

For the Grayslake Central Rams, if ever there's a clean-up job to be done, coach Tim Bowen need not look any farther than veteran post player Mike Morgan. He might not get the box score glory of an Elias Washington or Travis Guy, but he's earned the respect of his coach through good old-fashioned gumption.

"Morgan's really surprised us this year; he's been coming off of the bench and I think he wants to play and be successful," Bowen said. "He buys into being a hard worker and a team player and really goes the extra mile to get the rebounds, be scrappy on defense and do all the little things that might not get a player glory, but really helps the team win some games."

In a sports society that can value elegance over sheer results (think the Bears and QB Kyle Orton) sometimes it's the hard-hat and lunchpail players who get overlooked. That might be true outside of the Ram locker room, but inside, Bowen considers Morgan to be one of his greatest assets.

"He's more of a dirty worker, the kind of guy who works hard and tries his best to get every ball," Bowen said. "He's a pretty decent shooter when he gets warmed up, but that's only a small part of his game because he's always willing to sacrifice himself on every possession."

Morgan isn't the only Grayslake Central horse Bowen hopes to ride deep into the IHSA tournament. Fellow Ram Jesse Stabile was formed in a similar mold, also thriving underneath the "under-appreciated big man" mantra to capture 14 points in a win against Highland Park earlier this year. Stabile was able to get this season off on the right foot after putting on some poundage after spending some time in the weight room in the off-season.

The two players who were expected to get some glory, Guy and Washington, have not disappointed their coach. However, there is always room to ask for more.

"We expected them to have a good year after they did so well last season," Bowen said. "They've played well for us, but they're still getting back into it. Hopefully they'll be able to play to their potential pretty soon."

Of course, even with such a diverse arsenal of weaponry, no good coach is happy with what they've got. Despite overcoming the difficult 74-48 thumping at the hands of Glenbrook North and Duke Blue Devil recruit Jon Scheyer, Bowen still sees plenty of holes in his team - holes that need to be filled if the Rams have any chance of meeting the coach's high expectations for the season.

"We've got to get better on defense and offensively, we need to have more consistent play from our 'better' players," Bowen said. "There's a lot of work to be done, but we do have some hard workers and because of that, we have a lot of flexibility in our lineup and that can really make us a dangerous team down the line."

If you must give up your beloved pet, please consider these suggestions.
*Free animal ads suggest that there is something wrong with the animal, or that it has no value.
*Some people who respond to these free animal ads are imposters and are only concerned about making a profit and not the animal's welfare.
*Charging a fee to a potential pet owner confirms the responsibility of pet ownership for an entire lifetime of that pet. For more information, please contact the Humane Society.

Manage Career Uncertainty

By Scott T. Fleischmann

Fifty years ago career decisions were made early in life. One decided to be a carpenter, firefighter or doctor. Then most workers followed that path into retirement. Now careers are often affected by outside forces and those who manage that uncertainty will increase their job security. Technical advances are one catalyst for career change. The Mainframe computers that were eventually replaced by microcomputer technology are a specific example. Likewise the global economy, with foreign workers performing tasks that many Americans are unwilling to do, is another factor. As is the fact, that other countries can often produce better products at lower prices.

We cannot control these circumstances. Yet because of them, we need to be prepared to change careers at any time. We each need to develop a diverse skill set that can be transferred to another occupation.

Skill sets can be divided into two categories, direct skills and soft skills. Direct skills are those that are needed for a specific occupation. For example, Internal medicine doctors must understand anatomy and drug interaction. Carpenters, plumbers and electricians need to be able to read blueprints. Public Elementary school teachers need to understand the psychology of early childhood development.

The general practice physician who studies pediatrics or anesthesiology (direct skills) will have more career flexibility, even if he or she plans to practice general medicine. Likewise, the doctor could take a course to improve patient relations (a soft skill). For doctors, these steps could become increasingly important as more physicians' assistants and nurse practitioners are utilized to lower health care costs.

Trades persons, who expand their skill set and strengthen employability, could study other trades, architecture, or management. In the last ten years, more highly skilled immigrants have entered the construction occupations. Those who move to the United States are often willing to accept lower wages and to work without union contracts. Those who are currently working in these occupations would be wise to prepare for the future by exploring other options.

With the expansion of private schools and the rise of home-schooling, public school education will decrease. Arizona already has a law to provide tax relief for parents of private school children. Similar laws are pending in Michigan and at the federal level (H.R. 257). This trend will decrease the need for public school teachers.

Those who now teach in public schools would be wise to learn the needs of private schools and develop corresponding skills. Since, private schools are often identified with a religion or philosophy, those with the same beliefs could delve more deeply into dogma to be prepared for a future transition. Diversifying could also be a competitive career advantage. A grade school teacher could pursue certification at the high school level.

Soft skills, such as interpersonal communication and relationship building, are useful in every occupation. In addition, these skills often help in the job search process.

Our work culture is changing. Few will have the same job throughout their entire career. Those who are prepared will more easily make the inevitable transitions more easily.

Pet OF THE WEEK

FLOYD

A grin as big as they come, ear to ear and of course with tongue hanging out. Looking at this happy boy, who would know that he came in so emaciated and afraid of his own shadow. He thinks life is great now and we can't wait for him to discover what a loving home is. What an experience this will be. He loves to play with some dogs and can at times be a little bit too exuberant for them. And he always has plenty of kisses for his friends!

Higher-ups put pressure on you to perform this week, Gemini. You're up for the challenge but it'll require a lot of work and dedication. A time for rest is still a few weeks away.

CANCER - Jun 22/Jul 22

A tiff with a family member puts you at odds, Cancer. A change in attitude might keep loved ones closer rather than pushing them away. Bite your tongue to keep the peace.

LEO - Jul 23/Aug 23

Are you ready for a change of pace, Leo? Try a new sport or hobby that will get your adrenaline pumping. With winter weather around the corner, skiing may be the answer.

As the song says, you've been looking for love in all the wrong places. Step out of your comfort zone, Virgo and take a leap of faith when it comes to your love life.

LIBRA - Sep 23/Oct 23

A makeover is in store for you, Libra, you just don't know it yet. Someone close is pulling subtle strings to cause you to change your appearance and motivation.

A disagreement with an associate leaves you with extra responsibilities. Use this time to prove to higher-ups that you're a take-charge type of person, Sagittarius.

CAPRICORN - Dec 22/Jan 20

A son, daughter or sibling is the center of your attention this week, Capricorn. Plan to spend time with this individual as much as you can. The results will be rewarding.

AQUARIUS - Jan 21/Feb 18

You're given the opportunity for a promotion, but don't know if you should jump on it just yet. A change of pay is nice, but more hours are required. Think it over.

PISCES - Feb 19/Mar 20

Matters of the heart are first and foremost this week, Pisces. Romance a loved one or pursue a romantic interest.
